Index to Record and Guide Vol. LXVIII.

For New York Auction Sales, Conveyances, Leases, Mortgages, Projected Buildings and Advertisers.

NOS. 1738 TO 1763. JULY—DECEMBER, INCLUSIVE. 1901.

PREFACE.

The following is the semi-annual Index of Volume LXVIII of The Record and Guide, containing complete lists of the Auction Sales, Conveyances, Leases, Mortgages and Buildings Projected in New York City during the last six months of 1901. Those wishing to keep a file for permanent reference should see that all the numbers are complete and have them bound. Cost of binding $2.00 per volume. A suitable temporary binder, holding one volume, can be obtained at the office, 14 and 16 Vesey street; price, one dollar.

THE KEY.

* Before any page No. indicates an Auction Sale.

† Before any page No. indicates a New Building Projected.

Figures in parenthesis are leases.

Figures preceded by capital letter are mortgages, said capital letter indicating the first letter of the name of the mortgagor.

Figures without any signs whatsoever are Conveyances.

EXAMPLE.

Cherry st, from James to Rutgers..42, (48), G 50, (88), H 157, 182, W 250, O 328, *461, (466), 501, F 546, K 546, *576, 745, 781, P 790, †889 (918).

On pages (48) and (466) leases will be found for property on block bet Catherine and Market sts and Pike and Rutgers; also on pages (88) and (918).

On pages 50, under letter G, 157 letter H, 250 letter W, 328 letter O. 546 letters F and K and 790 letter P, mortgages will be found.

On pages *461 and *576 auction sales will be found.

On pages 42, 88, 182, 501, 745 and 781 conveyances will be found.

On page †889 plans for a new building will be found.

AUCTION SALES.

The * appearing before any number indicates the page on which to find an Auction Sale.

CONVEYANCES

are distinguished by numbers without having signs attached thereto. In many instances there will be found streets, etc., indexed under pages which, on being examined, show at once that they are not in their proper order according to our customary alphabetical and numerical arrangement. A further examination will disclose the fact that while the properties appear more prominently under the other street descriptions, they nevertheless extend to the streets, etc., indicated by the Index, and having a frontage on same have been included in the paging, and it will necessitate a somewhat more thorough search than usual to locate it.

The Leases, Mortgages, Auction Sales and Projected Buildings are indexed in a similar manner to the plan followed with the Conveyances.

LEASES.

The figures in parenthesis denote that the transaction on the page given is Leasehold, an assignment of lease or a lease running for a short or long term of years. This explanation is made so that subscribers searching for transfers in fee can at once distinguish between the former and the latter without referring to the pages mentioned.

MORTGAGES.

All the mortgages are indexed against the street or avenue in which the property is located, and memoranda added to enable searchers to find the particulars in "The Record and Guide." See "Example." The streets and avenues are so subdivided that very few references are necessary. All readers of "The Record and Guide" are aware that the mortgages appear weekly in alphabetical order, so that they have, so to speak, a weekly index of mortgagors. This publication of an index against property completes the information which those interested may require.

PROJECTED BUILDINGS

are included under the same general heading, and are distinguished by the † which precedes the numbering.

Auction Sales, Conveyances, Leases, Mortgages and Projected Buildings.

NEW YORK CITY.

STREETS.

NOTE.—Longitudinal streets, roads and places, such as the Bowery, Boulevard, Broadway, etc., which run parallel with the various avenues, will be found in alphabetical order amongst the avenues.

... The New Rapid Transit Route

The interest taken in the new underground rapid transit route shows clearer than anything else how closely the future value of millions of dollars' worth of real estate is connected with this long-deferred enterprise.

So great was the demand for the rapid-transit maps issued recently by the Record and Guide that the entire edition was exhausted.

A new edition is now ready for delivery; price 10 cents; postage extra, 2 cents. The map has also been printed on bond paper. Price, 25 cents postage, extra, 2 cents.

Every real estate broker, and all who are interested in real estate should possess this map It gives the route of the new transit lines, the location of all stations, sections of the road, etc Will be needed for constant reference. Order at once. RECORD AND GUIDE OFFICE,

LUMBER.

Appended quotations are based almost wholly upon prices obtained for goods from first hands. Yard rates necessarily range much higher owing to the expenses attending sorting out and grading cargo and even car lots, besides which must be added the cost of handling and carrying until consumers are ready to invest. Terms of sale also prove important factors, and altogether it is impossible to give a line of retail quotations thoroughly reliable in character.

Vol. LXVIII. JULY 6, 1901. No. 1738.

The Index to Volume LXVII of the Record and Guide, covering the period between January 1st and June 30th, 1901, will be ready for delivery July 20th. Price, $1. This Index in its enlarged form is now recognized as indispensable to every one engaged or interested in real estate and building operations. It covers all transactions—deeds, mortgages, leases, auction sales, building plans filed, etc. Orders for the Index should be sent at once to the office of publication, 14 and 16 Vesey Street.

THERE are two striking exceptions to the general activity—one is in the stock commission business and the other in iron and steel making. Trading in stocks dropped off so much that the governors of the Stock Exchange were induced to close that institution for the two days following the legal holiday, making three days in all during which the public are deprived of the facilities of the exchange. In the iron and steel trades it is not unusual to close down plants in the heated term to give them an overhauling. But this fact is this year complicated by a labor trouble in some of the works of the United States Steel Company of apparently threatening proportions that, to say the least, makes the outlook in this line of business rather uncertain. The event of the week was the declaration of the dividends on the United States Steel preferred and common. It, however, gave so little satisfaction that each of these issues immediately lost more than the amount of their several dividends, leaving holders actually worse off than if none had been declared. The disappointment lay in the fact that in making the declarations the directors of the company gave no intimation of whether in their opinion the dividends could be maintained or what the outlook for the future was. It is hard to see what assurances they could give in a concern so new, but the public evidently expected that their actions would take form to confirm unofficial assertions regarding the prosperity of the company. As they did not, disappointment displayed itself in the usual way, namely, realizing. On the whole, instead of sustaining the market, these dividends, or the manner of their making, have added one more to the depressing influences of the moment, and which are slowly but surely forcing liquidation and lowering quotations.

IN the statement of valuations for tax purposes given in another column, the owner of real property will not find the satisfaction that he was led to expect earlier in the year. The Tax Department, despite strenuous and conscientious effort, have been unable to add to the personal property valuations sufficient to relieve real estate much, the additions, some $60,000,000, being equal only to about the amount of a decrease made last year. From this it has been argued that the personal property tax should be abolished, owing to the evident impossibility of reaching the property that ought to be taxed. This is a confession of weakness that ought not to be admitted. There would be less difficulty in finding such property if the tax were made an equitable one, instead of what it is now, a practical confiscation of the income realized. This does not merely encourage concealment, but often makes it a necessity of self-protection. The law is not fully executed by the officials charged with its enforcement, except where escape from that duty is impossible; and, altogether, it ought to be amended so that it would make evasion on one side and neglect on the other unnecessary and at the same time produce a greater revenue than it does now. Of the real estate valuations themselves it cannot be said that arbitrary increases have been made. The total is $69,245,061, a sum that cannot be called an excessive representation of incrementary value and new construction. Manhattan, naturally, gives the largest increase, $53,686,058, being about 2½ per cent. on the whole for last year. The percentage of increase is higher in The Bronx, or more than 4 per cent., while in Brooklyn it is not much more than 1 per cent. While the Tax Department were revising their preliminary estimates, the Legislature took up the question of taxation and passed a number of bills that, so far as New York city is concerned, have the result of $500,000 to $600,000 loss of income and a corresponding increase of at least one and one-half points in the tax rate. Owing to this and to the small increases in valuations, the tax rate this year must be increased about six points over that of last year—to about 2.30—in order to meet the heavy budget adopted last fall.

THE complaints customary this time of year about the Grand Central tunnel have of late been unusually vociferous. It is not pleasant, even in winter, to see all the windows and ventilators shut tight every time your train passes through the tunnel, but in summer it is almost intolerable to be deprived of good air and to sit ten minutes twice a day in absolutely unventilated cars. Furthermore, the grievances of the residents of upper Park avenue are added to those of the commuters. This time of year it is absolutely necessary to keep one's windows open night and day, which means for the inhabitants of that avenue that their rest and quiet are blasted by the shrieking and puffing engines which are continually passing by. But so far as the public knows, their protests are quite unavailing. Year after year they air their grievances, but year after year the Grand Central management make no effectual attempt to provide a remedy. It answers all complaints with the statement that no electric motor has yet been invented which meets the requirements of its service. This may be true, but the fact remains that New Yorkers know that the Grand Central officials never consent to any improvement until its necessity is forced upon them by something less easily ignored than public opinion, and the one hope of the local patrons of the 42d street lines is that perhaps the increasing severity of the competition for suburban service in every direction may induce the Vanderbilt management, as similar competition has already induced the management of the Manhattan Company, to make the necessary improvements. Probably at bottom it is only a question of cost, and the money will be forthcoming as soon as the existing traffic is threatened. It is the greatest problem which confronts the management of the new president, and if he can take some more effectual steps to solve it than his predecessor did he will not only earn the gratitude of the public, but also do a good stroke of business for his railroad company.

IT is not by looking abroad that we find encouragement for our own market. Europe generally has settled into a gloomy condition of mind, the spurt in business that the spring brought having exhausted its influence. In Britain especially the hopeless tone of the ministerial declarations in regard to South Africa must fall with depressing effect upon the community. This, with the failures in Germany and Russia already announced and others threatened, make a return of confidence and renewed activity absolutely impossible for a good while to come. Recent industrial development of Germany seems to have been carried on with every sort of stock jobbing and financial hokus-pokus with the usual results. However, it is particularly satisfactory to note that the authorities are vigilant, and every exposure of rottenness in a suspended institution is followed by the arrest and punishment of the managers who are responsible therefor. In this respect Germany sets other countries an example that they may well follow. The more business is contracted, the easier money gets; yet Europe continues to draw gold away from the United States, where, owing largely to caution engendered by recent bank failures, money is in demand and rates going up. Presumably, the latter movement is temporary, and due to the necessity the banks generally feel themselves under to make a strong showing.

AS the amended War Revenue law went into effect on Monday, it brought into the Register's and County Clerk's office a deluge of documents that had been held back to secure the advantage of the exemptions or the lower rates it imposes. Still it does not appear that the provisions of the new law are properly understood. Some documents have been received this week having attached the stamps required by the old law. A commoner error is to attach stamps to conveyances for the amount of the consideration without making any deduction for the first $2,500, which are exempt. Another fact to be borne in mind is that deeds and mortgages made prior to July 1st must be stamped in accordance with the law in force at that time.

Real Estate Valuations.

The Tax Department this week issued a tabular summary of their final valuations of real and personal property in this city for the purposes of taxation. The first amount to a total of $3,168,533,200, being an increase for the year of $69,245,061, and the second to $619,437,673, or an increase of $64,617,014. The results make a total addition of $133,862,075 to the taxable property of the city and prefigure a tax rate of something in the neighborhood of $2.30. The budget is $98,100,413.43, which is the amount to be provided upon the total real and personal valuation, less the proceeds of the General Fund, estimated at from $11,000,000 to $12,000,000.

President Feitner, in making this statement for the Tax Department, very properly points out that the legislation which gave to the State an income from bank and insurance capital took away from the city taxable assets to the amount of $133,070,312 and deprived it of $500,000 of income, after all allowances are made for what would in any case have been payable to the State if there had been no such legislation. We give below a comparative statement of the real estate valuations of Manhattan and the Bronx by sections, and those who are interested in the figures for Brooklyn will find them with the news of that borough, given in another column:

Tenement House Law.

POLICY OF HEALTH BOARD AND OF OWNERS.

The circulars sent out last week and this by President Sexton, of the Board of Health, notifying property owners that after July 1 they would be held responsible for violations of the tenement law, which went into effect April 12, created considerable agitation and comment among the owners of tenements and apartments.

The responsibility for the enforcement of the new law will rest mainly upon the shoulders of Dr. Frederick H. Dillingham, the Assistant Sanitary Inspector, and his corps of inspectors, until January 1, 1902, when a tenement house commission will be appointed.

A reporter for the Record and Guide asked a number of questions of Dr. Dillingham several days ago, and his replies were about as follows:

"The circulars were sent out for the purpose of acquainting the property owners with the provisions of the new law, of which, for the most part, they were ignorant. It is a very sweeping piece of legislation, and will cause the abandonment or removal of many houses. The Health Department wished to give the owners affected due notice, so that between now and January 1 they might take the proper steps to have their buildings altered in conformity with the law.

"We shall not increase the number of our inspectors, because we have neither the authority nor the money, and consequently there will be few complaints until the first of the year; but the Tenement House Commissioner, with his corps of 190 inspectors, who are required to inspect all tenements at least once a month, will be able to keep any violators in hot water."

Adolph Bloch, with offices in the Bennett Building, counsel for the Tenement Committee of the United Real Estate Owners' Association of the Boroughs of Manhattan and The Bronx, has prepared a set of papers to be used when the Health Department takes its first action under the new law. The method of procedure will be to pray for an injunction restraining the department from exercising its authority until the constitutionality of certain portions of the law can be decided by the courts. Test cases will be carried through both the State courts and the United States courts.

Mr. Bloch thinks that the law is unconstitutional, inasmuch as it deprives a man of the use and enjoyment of his property without compensation, and the cases will be fought along that line. Mr. Bloch says that no attempt will be made to defeat such provisions as the lighting of halls and the ventilation requirements, but, in his opinion, when the law compels a man to discontinue the use of a room because it has no window opening on a 5-foot court, the law deprives him of the use of that room without compensation.

LEXINGTON AVENUE ARMORY AWARDS.

The Commission of Estimate in the matter of the Lexington Avenue Armory site have rendered their decisions on various objections filed. They increase the award for Nos. 126 to 128 East 26th st by the sum of $8,700, and that for Nos. 125 to 127 East 25th st by $4,930. Other objections, except the one noted later, were technical and of no public interest. Regarding the objections generally the Commission say:

Most of these objections are of a perfunctory kind, and require no consideration at this time. This is strikingly illustrated by those filed by a firm of lawyers, representing four different parcels of property, who, in submitting a series of stereotyped objections as to each of these parcels, evidently have overlooked the fact that in one of them the award was $500 larger than the claim made by them for the largest possible sum which the property-owners' evidence would warrant. As the city has objected to the award, on that ground, we cannot escape a reconsideration of the matter. We frankly confess that it was an inadvertence on our part to have given the amount which we did. The testimony of the witness called on behalf of the property-owners agrees with that given by the city and with the unit adopted by us, as to the value of the land; and as we did not believe, and did not intend to find, that the improvements on the land are worth any more than the amount claimed by the owner, we are constrained to sustain the objection of the city (which is the only objection filed by it to the entire proceeding), and we correct the award by reducing the same in the sum of $500.

COMMISSION ON LEASE.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A lease having been made for a term of two years and ten months, which of the following is the correct brokers' charge? Two and a half per cent. on first year's rental or one per cent. on total rental?

Answer.—Two and one-half per cent. on first year's rental.—Editor Record and Guide.

WHEN TAXES BECOME A LIEN.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Kindly state when taxes on New York real estate become a lien on the property.

Answer.—For some years, until last year, it had been the custom to consider taxes a lien as soon as the ordinance authorizing the levy had been passed by the Board of Aldermen, and since consolidation by the Municipal Assembly and approved by the Mayor. In July of that year the Supreme Court, Appellate Division, in Brooklyn decided that taxes did not become a lien upon real estate until the specific amount of taxes against the property had been extended upon the assessment rolls, and the rolls and warrants for collection had been delivered to the receiver of taxes. Presumably, this ruling will guide this year. When the new charter goes into effect next year, and as long as it is operative, taxes will be a lien on the property on the first Monday in October of each year.—Editor Record and Guide.

BROKER'S COMMISSION.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Broker produces tenant for two-year lease, who requests a three-year privilege of renewal. Broker advises owner not to give same, as it would be against owner's interests. Owner, without further consulting broker, destroys lease broker drew and has another substituted for a term of two years, with privilege of extension for three more years, which was later exercised. Is broker entitled to the commission on the lease as finally executed?

Answer.—Yes.—Law Editor.

Real Estate Market.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK.

The announcement by the Tax Department that the tax rate for the coming year will show an increase over that of the present year will be received with keen disappointment by the property owners of New York city. It is not that the increase itself will amount to so very much; it is rather that it seems so impossible, under prevailing conditions, to do anything effectual in the way of diminishing the tax burdens which real estate is forced to bear. The Tax Department has undoubtedly done its best to increase the amount of personal property on the tax rolls, and in this way to keep the tax rate down; but the best that the department has been able to do has not served to make up for the diminutions in taxable assets which has been caused by the Legislature's revision of the State tax system. The situation is one that requires the most serious attention on the part of property owners. A large number of costly improvements are imperatively required in order to meet the growing needs of the municipal service. Expenditures must necessarily increase in many directions, and unless some effective measures of retrenchment are taken, unless the city is so governed that it receives a more adequate return for the money actually spent, it seems hard to avoid the conclusion that the tax burden upon real estate will in the future be augmented rather than diminished. The one encouraging aspect of the situation is that in spite of the large tax rate and the threat of still larger future tax rates, values in Manhattan continue to increase and capital is being invested in real estate in bigger sums than ever. Nothing could indicate better how powerful, almost how irresitible, are the economic forces making for the increased prosperity of the city. If New York were wisely and economically governed, it would have been the city of all cities in which real estate would have been lightly taxed. As it is, its growth is only hampered by an annual expenditure which would have ruined the municipal finances of a city less favorably situated.

The price paid for the northwest corner of Broadway and Herald Square is one of those surprises which so often occur in the New York real estate market. Had anybody predicted six months ago that the corner in question would soon be sold for almost $325 a square foot he would have been considered out of his mind. Yet such a price is reported to have been paid to retain the buyer's profitable proximity to the department store of R. H. Macy & Co. Of course, it is a facy price, if it is the true one. The corner would seem to be more valuable to R. H. Macy & Co. than anyone else, but that firm did not take the chance, which it must have had, of outbidding its present neighbor. How fancy the price is may be gathered from a few comparisons. Early in the spring the northwest corner of 22d st and 6th av, one of the best corners in the department store district, and surrounded on every side by the shop of Ehrich Bros., was sold at auction after spirited bidding, for what was supposed to be the extraordinary price of $148.22 a square foot. In this instance the people willing to pay the largest sum for the isolated corner were the owners of the abutting department store, and the price, while unusual, was not so very much in excess of the prices prevailing for similarly situated parcels in that vicinity. But the $148 a square foot which the 22d st corner brought seems very small compared to the $324 per square foot given out for the 34th st corner. This price has been exceeded only twice in the past history of the city—not once, as was erroneously stated in the daily newspapers. In April 1882, Mr. Wilkes paid $330 a square foot for 508 square feet on the southwest corner of Wall and Broad sts, while ten years earlier Anthony J. Drexel had paid $348 a square foot for 717 square feet on the southeast corner of Wall and Broad sts. The 34th st purchase, however, becomes the more remarkable when it is remembered that the parcel contained 1,154 square feet and was bought not by an abutting property owner to complete a corner, but an independent purchaser for his own use. It is stated that R. Smith & Co. propose to erect a twelve-story store on the site, which, if true, will make an unsightly architectural neighbor to the ten-story store which R. H. Macy & Co. are putting up.

Jere Johnson, Jr., Co. announce in our business pages an important lot sale for Wednesday next. The lots are located in the Third Ward of Brooklyn and in a section which is now the scene of active building operations under the stimulus of coming rapid transit connections with Manhattan. Easy terms are offered to buyers, and the Title Guarantee and Trust Co. will insure titles free of cost to them. Jere Johnson, Jr., Co., at 169 Broadway, Manhattan, and 189 Montague st, Brooklyn, and Benner & Benner, attorneys, 135 Broadway, Manhattan, will supply maps and answer inquiries.

REAL ESTATE NOTES.

Wm. Prager, of Lowenfeld & Prager, is at Arverne, L. I., for the season.

J. S. De Selding, of De Selding Bros., has gone to Wianno, Mass., for the month of July.

D. D. Brandt succeeds Brandt & Kirby, with offices at the old stand, 2717 Broadway, southwest corner of 104th st.

B. M. Andrews, of 18 East 42d st, has just returned from a two months' wedding tour, which he spent in England and Scotland.

Chas. W. Kirby, late of Brandt & Kirby, is now of the firm of A. E. Gibbs & C. W. Kirby, with offices at 451 Columbus av and 2705 Broadway.

According to a Washington dispatch, misapprehension prevails regarding the stamp taxes on mortgages and conveyances which were executed before the 1st of July, but have been held up for record until the present time. They must bear the rates of taxation in operation at the time of their execution.

The transaction by which the Beard Building, at Nos. 120 and 122 Liberty st, running through to Nos. 123 and 125 Cedar st, was transferred last week to Edward F. and Angeline W. Robinson was a trade, the 5-sty flat at the southwest corner of 7th av and 119th st and some vacant lots on 127th st, west of Columbus av, being given in exchange.

Eighteen parcels of real estate were transferred on Tuesday by James M. Varnum, referee, to the corporation of the estate of Bradish Johnson for $2,397,550. It will be remembered that a partition sale of the property was held on October 11, 1900, when the thirty-seven parcels offered were bought by the heirs for $4,796,100, at which amount the corporation was capitalized, each of the heirs receiving his proportionate amount of the stock. Delay in filing until the new revenue law went into effect saved the estate nearly $1,200 in stamps.

Material Market.

The market for building materials was almost at a standstill during the week, on account of the excessive heat, it being impossible to make deliveries of materials in any quantities, because dealers would not permit their teams to make more than one trip a day. The loss of a $500-team of horses would knock the profits off of more than one load of bricks, lumber, lime or cement.

Again, the Fourth of July holiday split the week, and until after Thursday it was almost impossible to sell any commodity without making a concession from the market price. Several sales of lumber and laths were made on Monday at slight reductions, owing to pressure to sell.

Aside from these transactions the market was without feature of interest and prices are unchanged.

The Kingston brickyards have resumed work. The manufacturers made no concessions.

The Amalgamated Association of Steel Workers has lined up in a fight against the United States Steel Corporation. The fight is not for wages, but for recognition of the association. So far only the sheet mills are affected, but the strike may extend to all the works of the Corporation. Officers of the steel company claim that the dispute will be arranged before the close of the heated term, when works are usually more or less shut down for repairs, etc.

OF INTEREST TO THE BUILDING TRADES.

The 71st Regiment will erect a granite memorial in Mount Hope Cemetery from plans by Clarence True.

John D. Quincy, who succeeded the late Eugene Otterbourg as Assistant Corporation Counsel, assigned to the Department of Buildings, died on Tuesday last, after an illness of some months, induced, it is said, by overwork.

Commissioner Wallace has asked the Police Department to arrest and punish a man who is, by falsely representing himself as a building inspector, obtaining money from the unsuspecting by the sale of tickets.

The Manhattan Cornice and Skylight Works, of No. 435 East Houston st, (telephone 982 Spring), Alexander & Weiss, proprietors, are hustling and successful workers, as the following partial list of some of their recent contracts testifies. Roofing, cornices, skylights, etc., for Bingham Bros, Harris Fine, W. W. Sternkopf, John Kafka, Jacob Fischel, Schmeidler & Bachrach, Samuel Bakin, R. S. Aaronson, Spielberg & Steiner, H. Wittner, Barnet Levy, Parness & Meyash, Feinberg & Mishkind, Reinhardt Bros. and Greenblatt & Weinstein.

An open competition is announced for a monumental bridge to be constructed at Turin, in place of the present suspension bridge. The new structure is to be entirely of cut stone, and to be ornamented with four groups or works of sculpture, representing subjects related to the life and reign of the late King Humbert of Italy. The cost of construction of the bridge is limited to $360,000, and $60,000 additional may be devoted to sculpture. Designs must be sent in not later than October 1, 1901. Details of the prizes to be awarded are not given, but $3,000 will be divided in some way among the competitors.

Corporation Counsel Whalen has rendered an opinion to the Commissioner of Public Buildings, Lighting and Supplies that the department had control over all electric light wires in private houses in the city. The question was raised by the Central Federated Union and was referred to the Corporation Counsel by Commissioner Kearny. In his opinion Mr. Whalen says: "It will produce a condition as grotesque as dangerous to give to some department the power of regulating the use of street wires and to confer upon no officer or department the power to inspect and regulate wires where they are especially dangerous, namely, in private buildings. * * * I think the law is clearly intended to confer upon your department the powers formerly exercised by the Fire Department in regard to electrical appliances in any building in the city."

FRENCH INFLUENCE ON AMERICAN ARCHITECTURE.

It is admitted by all competent observers that the most powerful single influence which is operating on Amerian architecture at present is the influence of the Paris Ecole des Beaux-Arts, the school at which so many of the younger American architects have studied. The methods and traditions of this school are fully described and studied in a special number of the Architectural Record, devoted to that purpose, and any student of architecture or any young man who proposes to practice it, will find much information in this number which will be very useful, and which cannot be conveniently obtained in any other way. This issue of the magazine contains also a descriptive and fully illustrated account of the work of those American architects who have come most under the Beaux-Arts influences. Copies may be had by applying to the Architectural Record, 14 and 16 Vesey St. Price 65 cents, including postage.

CONVEYANCES.

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to their having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482, denote that the property is in section 2 block 482.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers, the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—The letters R. S. mean Revenue Stamp, as R. S. $8.00. means Revenue Stamp $8.00.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage is drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find Mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

Building Notes and Notions.

CHICAGO FOUNDATIONS.

Fifty concrete foundation piers from 4½ to 8½ ft. in diameter are being built for the columns of the new "Chicago Tribune" Building. The method employed is the same as that used a number of years ago for underpinning the walls of the Chicago Stock Exchange, and has recently been adopted for other buildings in Chicago, but is seldom heard of elsewhere, and would not be applicable in most soils. It consists substantially in digging open circular shafts, lining them with wood and iron, and ramming them full of concrete. The open excavation is made by hand to depth of 5 feet and then sheathed with vertical lagging with planed radial edges fitted tightly together and set outside of iron rangers formed of segmental flat rings bolted together with inside flanges. The excavation is carried down through soft wet clay to hard-pan nearly 100 feet below the street, and the spoil is hauled up in buckets by hand windlasses. The shaft is sunk several feet into the hard-pan, enlarged to a conical bottom with a diameter twice that of the shaft rammed full of 1:3:5 Portland cement concrete, and capped to receive the steel columns.

PHILADELPHIA'S CITY HALL.

Philadelphia has been building a City Hall for years and thus far its cost has been $24,138,592. Last month it was formally transferred from the custody of the Public Buildings Commission to Mayor Ashbridge, as representative of the municipality. This formal transfer brings out some interesting items in the cost of this building which is remarkable for many reasons. The accounts of the commission data from August 5, 1870, and the last item of expense covers the monthly pay of 262 men in all, aggregating $17,000. This represents the salary of assistant superintendents, architects, electricians, painters, gas fitters, carpenters, bricklayers and laborers. Architect W. Bledyn Powell has prepared a statement showing the cost of the structure to December, 3, 1900. It is itemized as follows: Cost of preliminary preparation of site, etc., $402,472.93; maintenance, $5,477,052.37; construction of building proper, ready for fitting and furnishing, $17,860,067.58; total, $23,739,592.88; appropriated this year, $339,000.00; total, $24,138,592.88. The items of construction work are classified as follows: Excavation, foundation stone and machinery, $359,668.91; granite and bluestone work, $542,407.18; marble and marble work, $5,467,503.07; dressed stone work, interior, $2,112,560.11; bricks and brickwork, $1,109,410.05; cast and wrought iron work, $1,589,747.74; metal work for tower, $830,-829.04; for all other construction work, $5,547,941.50.

A BIG CHIMNEY.

A brick chimney, 360 feet high, has been built at the works of the Orford Copper Co., at Constables Hook, in order to discharge the fumes and gases at such a height that they will not be a nuisance to the neighborhood. It has but a single shell, and for 30 feet above the foundatino it is square, the flues entering this portion. Above this it is circular, with an interior diameter of 20 feet at the base and 10 feet at the top. The foundation consists of 360 piles, 24 inches between centers, driven 15 feet into a bed of solid gravel, and capped by a block of concrete, 41 feet square and 13 feet high. The shaft is of moulded red bricks having radial ends, and curved interior and exterior faces, with vertical perforations through the body of the bricks. They are four inches thick, and vary in length from 12 inches at the base to 11 inches at the top. The large size decreases the number of bricks and joints, while the radial form makes the joints narrow. Mortar entering the holes tends to bond the bricks together, while the hollow spaces prevent too rapid heating and cooling of the shell, thus enabling a single-shell chimney to be safely built. The thickness of the circular shell is about 46 inches at the base and 11 inches at the top. The outside face has a batter of 1 in 40, while the inside has 2-inch offsets 16½ feet apart. The chimney is strengthened by wrought iron bands, 5-16-inch thick and 3½ inches wide, 8 feet apart. It weighs 3,475 tons, or 5.75 tons per square foot of foundation. A fire-brick lining is built for 42 feet above the flues, as the gases enter at a temperature of 1,500° F., brick partitions being built to equalize the flow and prevent conflicting currents.

TUNNELING UNDER A TUNNEL.

Section 4 of the New York Rapid Transit Railway extends from 34th Street north about 2,000 feet on Madison Avenue to 41st Street, and is everywhere in rock tunnel. It consists of two double-track tunnels 41 feet apart on centers and about 31 feet on centers below the street car tunnel, which is approximately on their center line and parallel to them. The tunnels are to be lined with concrete and will have a special cross-section with a flatter roof than that adopted for the concrete work elsewhere on the line. The dimensions vary at different points of this section, but the average inside width and height are about 24 feet and 16 feet respectively, the intrados of the roof being struck from three centers with radii of 22 feet and 7 feet, and the side walls being vertical inside. This requires an excavation of about 28x20 feet, and there will be about 15,000 cubic yards of concrete used for the lining.

Each tunnel is being driven from a shaft at each end, and as the available working space on the surface of the ground around the tops of the shafts is very limited, special arrangements have been made for the location of machinery, shops and supplies and the handling and storage of excavated material. The top of each shaft is enclosed by a high board fence, and between each pair of shafts and the portal of the street car tunnel, a working platform has been built above the street car tracks across the full width of the street. This platform is a very heavy timber deck, and is extended some distance beyond the shafts away from the portals on the east side, thus affording space for miscellaneous storage and for repairs and other work. Under this platform the space is enclosed and sheds are built for machinery, storage and shops and an office.

Owing to the old tunnel overhead, and to the very valuable property immediately adjacent to the lines of both tunnels, throughout their lengths, the problem of blasting the headings without causing serious vibrations in the rock is a serious and difficult one. The usual American method of a single centre cut and a small number of side holes has been developed by careful experiments into a system with a double centre cut and a large number of side holes, so distributed as to give a maximum burden of about 2 feet on each hole. Careful observations have shown that such burdens can be fired in small groups without causing any material vibration in the rock. This, however, necessitates in each heading from twenty to thirty blasts in every blasting shift, and can only be accomplished by the most energetic work during the available seven hours. No similar large tunnels have been excavated under such difficult conditions of blasting as prevail here.

DEADENING FLOORS.

A novel scheme of construction having for its object the deadening of floors in apartment houses is being carried into effect by an architect in Chicago. Instead of using one joist on which the floor will rest and to which the ceiling will be attached, the architect has two, one for the floor and one for the ceiling. The floor joist will be 2x12 inches and the ceiling joist 2x6 inches. There is a space of 1½ inches between the bottom of the floor joist and the ceiling, and the open space cuts off all communication between the floors. The cost of the building will be materially increased, but as it is being erected for investment and not for speculation, the owner believes that the advantages of an attractive structure such as it is proposed to construct, will appeal to tenants, and that they will appreciate it.—Architects' and Builders' Journal.

EFFECT OF FIRE ON BUILDING MATERIALS.

Last month there was a fire in the government bonded warehouse at Antwerp that has a place among the remarkable conflagrations of modern times, as much for the rapidity as the completeness of the destruction that resulted. "The Builder," of London, thus describes the effect of the fire on the materials of construction: "All woodwork, even to lintels and frames built into brickwork, was destroyed, except in the case of massive beams of oak, and in some instances fir, though there were examples of even heavy timbers 12 ins. by 12 ins. completely burned through. Wrought-iron girders were bent and twisted into corkscrew form, and light iron trusses of one-story buildings suffered likewise. Cast-iron columns and girders were snapped cleanly across, and in some cases, as previously mentioned, partly fused, apparently after fracture. Stonework was deeply spalled and shivered. Brickwork was uninjured, except where walls were pushed out or pulled over by expansion or twisting of ironwork, and this was the fate of many of the lofty walls. Brick vaulting also stood well, except where it bodily collapsed by the failure of its supports or abutments. Glass was shivered or melted, although note should be made of an exception in one low-story building which, built of brick walls with the upper part lighted by side windows some 4 ft. high, glazed with wired glass in wood frames and covered with corrugated-iron sheeting on light iron trusses with fir purlins, was wholly burnt out, except one window, of which sufficient of the woodwork remained to support the glass, whilst the remainder, although scintered, as is the one still left, appear to have fallen bodily after the combustion of the wood frames."

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the morgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

Mr. Edison's New (?) Material.—Mr. Edison's forecast of cheap houses built of cement and rubble by means of boxes, into which tier after tier is "poured" and allowed to harden, is, says the New York "Times," somewhat fantastical. The method is an old one, and has been tried with success in certain climates, but there is no proof that it is suited to a land like ours, where heavy rains disintegrate such walls in summer and snowfalls alternate with thaws in the winter. Our architects have already introduced a modification of this style for country houses, consisting of wire lathing covered with plaster. This leaves an air chamber in the thickness of the wall and prevents "sweating," and, while much cheaper, is much warmer. Whether it will be as durable as solid walls remains to be seen. A combination of steel structure and solid concrete is another thing. That is merely a modification of iron architecture. After all, the economic question remains. Can such walls be made durable and capable of supporting the weight of several stories, and at the same time cheaper than wood and stone? The cost of materials and the cost of labor are at present greater for buildings of this kind. Simple four-square buildings of one story and attic might be cheap, but a villa of any complexity introduces so many elements that the cost increases unduly.

May Live in Real Glass Houses.—London, June 8.—M. Jules Henrivaux, till lately director of the great glass manufactory at St. Gobain, predicts that the new age is to be the Age of Glass. He says that glass is the best substance known to us for every kind of structural purpose and especially for dwelling houses.

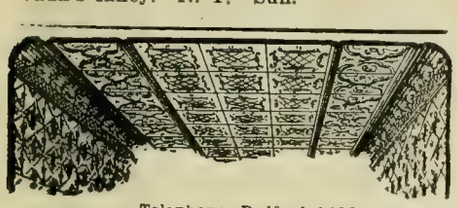
The point of the idea is found in the inexhaustible supply of the materials from which glass is made, in its adaptability to all shapes and forms, its durability and its cleanliness. With regard to the second point, it is obvious that glass can be shaped, colored and decorated to an extent of which no other material is capable, and it is upon this aspect of the idea that M. Henrivaux lavishes his imagination.

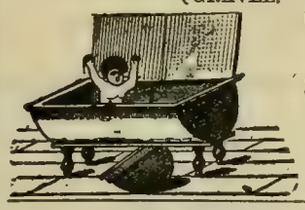
There are six ways in which glass can be manipulated. It can be cast into window-panes, paving stones, panels, etc. It can be moulded into cornices, slates, wall decorations and even statues. It can be blown into bottles, tumblers, vases and all the utensils comprised under the name of glassware.

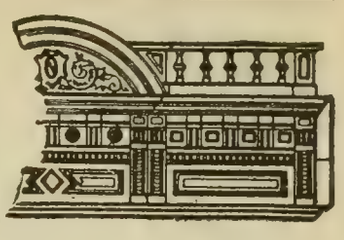
It can be blown and ground into crystals, lenses, prisms and other objects of art and utility. It can be drawn into the finest threads and made into pipes, baskets and dress materials. It can be turned into mosaics and enamels, and can be brought into the closest imitation of most of the precious stones.



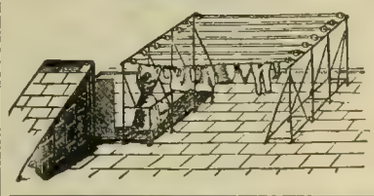
Imagine, with M. Henrivaux, the construction of a glass house. The foundations and the walls would be constructed of a variety of glass, recently invented, called stone glass, which has already successfully withstood the severest tests. When crushed it gives a resistance three times as great as granite. When subjected to heat or cold it is found less sensitive than steel. When submitted to friction it shows less wear than porphyry.

Shock, as of a hammer blow, it resists to a degree twenty-two times as severe as that which would fracture marble. The test of tension has practically no effect on it whatever.





The walls, then, would be built of glass held together by angleiron, so as to permit of a hollow space through which pipes could pass (the pipes themselves being glasswork), conveying hot air, hot and cold water, gas, electric wires, drains and everything needed for the health and comfort of the inhabitants. Stairs and balustrades, ceilings and wall décorations, mantlepieces and fireplaces would all be constructed of glass.



Our chairs and tables in the new glass age will be made of vitrified material, toughened to the strength of oak and mahogany. Our cooking utensils, our plates and cups and saucers, will be made of the same substance. Even our knives and forks will have glass handles, if not glass blades.

The new glass house will be absolutely clean and practically indestructible. The whole of its surface can be washed from the top story to the basement without a trace of humidity being left. Dust cannot collect on its polished face and the spider will find no place on which to hang its cobwebs. Such, at least, is M. Henrivaux's fancy.—N. Y. "Sun."

FORCED liquidation caused the break in Stock Market prices of this week, and this was the inevitable result of the wild speculation of the Spring, with its accompanying inflation of quotations. The question is, has liquidation run its course? The answer must be, apparently not. So long as quoted securities stand at prices which are unwarranted by intrinsic conditions, liquidation must continue and prices in our market still represent more than those conditions. This situation is aggravated by the fact that there is practically no speculative commission business, or very little, and the seller when he offers his goods finds they are subjected to a close scrutiny which was not the case when Wall Street was full of rampant bulls. In endeavoring to fix a term for the downward movement the range of advance has to be taken into account and a mean fixed accordingly. It must be remembered that the bull movement began in '96 when, for example, St. Paul was 60, and Atchison 8, since when these two stocks have sold at 188 and 91 severally. Ranges of comparatively equal extravagance can be found for almost everything on the list, and it follows that the reaction must be proportioned to the extravagance, whatever it may have been in each case. We are not saying that St. Paul will sell at 60 again, or Atchison at 8, because when those quotations were made the commercial and industrial forces of the country were paralyzed by the currency discussion and the fiscal position of the Nation itself was endangered. Such a terrifying factor is not likely to be encountered again in the situation, which counts for considerable in the way of value. Reactions against overtrading on the bear side will count, too, for something, in the way of delay principally; and so will the interested buying that comes in at intervals, when the breaking goes too fast and endangers credit in particular directions, but the easy jubilant over-estimating of the recent past must be discounted. Speaking generally, it may be said that every fraction added to quotations since the close of January was undeserved or produced by special circumstances that no longer have weight.

WHILE dreading the effects of the weather on his growing crops, the farmer may find some consolation in the fact that everyone is now compelled to acknowledge that the prosperity of the country still depends upon his efforts. We are still an agricultural people in spite of the foolish who were only the other day trying to prove that a crop failure lost its significance as the hammer had taken precedence of the plough in the symbolism of national callings. Now, we see how dependent commerce and industry are upon agriculture, when the prospect of crop disaster in some western states is giving everyone such a scare as that from which we are now suffering. An article on another page, which shows how manufacturers and others await the returns from the harvest field before making their plans for the coming year, will prove enlightening and interesting to those who deny this. The American farmer is helped, as it happens, by the European crop reports, and, while he cannot rejoice in a community of calamity, at the same time, he cannot shut his eyes to the fact that the economic results in a measure will save him, or at least mitigate his loss. Doubtless, first reports of damage are exaggerated, as they always are and that at the moment good news has no influence anywhere; but, it has to be confessed that the crop outlook gives a more serious view to the situation abroad as it does to that at home. By reason of having experienced both boom and reaction before we did and capital becoming released from enterprise as a consequence, money is cheaper in Europe than here, but there is no present prospect of an improvement in business and the keen competition for any that offers makes the outsider's chances for participating therein less than ever. This is a point that ought not to be overlooked when considering the future of our highly-watered, labor-betroubled industrials.

Napoleon Le Brun.

THAT must have been, on the whole, a very satisfactory professional life that was closed, this last week, by the death of Napoleon Le Brun, at the age of eighty. The life was in fact important enough to be called, without too much stretching of language, a "career." He had all his life been "in the movement." Thanks, perhaps, to his descendants and associates of a younger generation, he was never "out of it," even until the last, never a "back number," according to the disrespectful slang of the day. In fact, his distinction was that he was always very much "in it."

That description does not seem to designate, seems even to exclude a man of strong convictions, and much more a man of positive genius, but it does connote a man who, by sympathy and intelligence, must enjoy himself very much in his own lifetime, and may do very good work. The late James Renwick was such a man. He set no examples; he did not trouble anybody; he worked in the fashion of the day that was passing over him, without troubling himself to analyze it, much less reform it. "Well," as Carlyle says, "his lot was the peaceabler," and so was that of Mr. Le Brun.

We do not know that he ever took part in the Gothic revival. Probably not, since his main work, when the Gothic revival was at its height, forty years ago, was the Italian Renaissance of the Catholic Cathedral in Philadelphia, a building which gave all the Gothicists a pain, being, as it was and is, in what there is of the most Italian Renaissance. But, with this exception, he took a hand in whatever was going. And he did it always with a certain distinction, a certain selection, which makes one believe that he was not of French descent for nothing. He was a pupil of Thomas U. Walter, a fact which also does not go for nothing, seeing that Walter, the architect of the Girard College and of the extension of the United States Capitol, was in his turn a pupil of Strickland, who was a pupil of Latrobe. It is a pretty long and well-derived tradition, as our architecture goes, the best we have. It is a kind of guarantee that, whatever an architect does, he will not "kick over the traces." And, as we were saying, Mr. Le Brun took part in every architectural movement that was going in his time. Even in the Richardsonian Romanesque, for there stands, at the corner of 23d street and Lexington avenue, a little, cheap brick chapel, which is of the most Romanesque, has that careful detail which Richardson, rest his big, easy soul, never cared enough about, lacks that strong, single impulse which was all that Richardson did care about. It is not very interesting, except for the pains the designer evidently took in the execution of his terra cotta work, which accordingly came near to being a "record" for that time (about twenty years ago). But of the Romanesque spirit this building so carefully attentive to historical Romanesque detail, showed not the slightest trace.

There is another product of Mr. Le Brun's professional labors in New York which is worthy of a higher praise. And we do not mean the Metropolitan Life Insurance Building in Madison square either, though that is a very conspicuous building and much better studied than is common with skyscrapers. The relation of voids and solids in the basement is particularly taking and effective, to say nothing of the central court, by which, in photography, the building is best known, and which is in truth, an impressive example of sumptuousness. We mean the Home Life Insurance Building in Broadway, opposite City Hall Park. That design was only a summary, a compilation, but how intelligently it was done. It really showed the men from whose work it was derived what they were really driving at, how the tall building must have its base shaft and capital, and how it was better for the total effect that these main divisions should not be weakened by subdivision. It was, and we may almost say it is, long ago as it was built, the typical skyscraper, of the arbitrary and architectonic type, so much better did the architect know what the other architects had been doing than they knew themselves.

We cannot praise so highly the work that Mr. Le Brun did as architect to the Fire Department. By the way the principal building, the "Headquarters," Nos. 157-159 East 67th street, near Third avenue, is again Romanesque, and in a much freer Romanesque, and more successful than the little brick chapel. But the various station houses are not so good. Some of them show very ingenious adaptation, notably the most elaborate, that in Centre street, in the style of the chateaux. But then what has an engine house to do with a chateau? The others are less good still, the careful confectionery detail is so much more obviously irrelevant to their practical uses, and so to their artistic expression of those uses. And yet, radically wrong as the designs appear to us to be, they are so conscientiously carried out, and through, that it is impossible not to respect the author. He was, in fact, a very meritorious man.

A PLAN has been prepared by Engineer Louis A. Risse, whose mind has been always so fertile in developing municipal improvements for an aquatic course on the Hudson River between 99th and 129th streets, which is soon to be submitted to the Board of Public Improvements. The idea is to enclose the strip of water between the shore and U. S. Bulkhead line. The suggestion that the city do something to encourage aquatic sports is a very attractive one, but before a plan therefor is adopted two things should be very carefully considered: One, that of timeliness; and, two, that of suitability of place. Second thought will probably lead the promoters of the plan in question to think that perhaps other improvements have so much preference as to make it unwise to decide upon this one now; and that, perhaps, it may be doubted whether the front of the Riverside Drive and Park, which has been made a residence thoroughfare by the investment of millions of dollars is quite the right place for the sporting institution it is proposed to create, and the sportive following it would bring in its train.

ONE of the solutions, which has been proposed for the Park avenue tunnel problem, would certainly be effectual from the point of view of the 42d street commuters. This is to convert the tunnel into an open cut similar to that which holds the Harlem tracks, north of the river. But while such a solution would doubtless be very welcome to the patrons of the railroads, it would be bitterly opposed by the property owners, and the railroad would scarcely like to face the damages to which such a conversion of the avenue would make them liable. Park avenue for several miles north of 55th street, has been improved by comparatively handsome apartment houses, and these apartment houses, in case an open cut were substituted for the tunnel would be reduced to the value of tenements. Consequently, even if there are no legal or official objections to the scheme, there are serious financial ones, which will not recommend its adoption to the directors of such a company as the New York Central.

THIS week judicial approval has been given to the acts of auctioneers who have refused to accept bids from parties who were obviously unable to make them good, or made them for the purpose of obstructing sales. This will be found in the opinion of Justice McAdam given on another page and which everyone must admit concords not merely with justice but with common sense; in fact it proves the truth of the saying, that the law is common sense. Were an auctioneer compelled to take a bid by whomsoever offered, not only great inconvenience but great injury could be done to those of legitimate intentions. Owing to the business sense of the auctioneers, this has been avoided in the past, but it must be a matter of satisfaction not only to them, but to all who have recourse to the facilities of the real estate auction room for the transaction of their proper business, that the position of the auctioneers has the expressed sanction of the courts.

ANOTHER decision that must afford satisfaction is that of the Supreme Court, announced this week, and in effect that a service of a summons and complaint is not vitiated by error of name provided it is served upon the right person. In the case under consideration a piece of property was sold in foreclosure to one Weil. In the summons and complaint the first name of the defendant, who entered no appearance, had been given as Emma instead of Mary. Weil resold, but the new buyer rejected title because of the error in service in the foreclosure suit in the summons and complaint, though it was not contended that defendant was not personally served. The matter got through the usual course to the Court of Appeals, with the result already given. The decision will remove clouds from a good many titles, as may easily be supposed, when the liability to clerical error in all proceedings is considered.

SHOULD the Rogers will remain unbroken by the contest which is threatened, there is some chance that the Metropolitan Museum will become what it ought to be, the home of the completest permanent collection of American and foreign art which this country will contain. The great weakness of the museum in the past has been its dependence upon hap-hazard gifts for any increase in its collections, and this dependence placed the museum under a double disadvantage, for not only were such gifts altogether too infrequent, but in the mass they have never tended to form a well-rounded and complete collection of art objects. The catalogue of the museum is strong in some respects, but weak in others, and so it must always have remained, had not its authorities come into the possession of funds, which could be spent systematically in remedying the deficiencies in the existing collections. The National Galleries in London and Berlin are striking examples of what can be done in the way of accumulating a number of paintings and sculptures which illustrate more or less satisfactorily every important stage in the art-history of the world, and while at this late date the Metropolitan Museum cannot be filled with paintings or sculptures of an equally high order of merit, still a great deal can be done by the wise and liberal expenditure of the large income which it will probably receive. It should be added, however, that the income in question will be none too large for the purpose. The opportunities of acquiring historically and intrinsically valuable paintings are still numerous; but they can be used to advantage only by a person or an institution with an overflowing purse. The $250,000 a year which the museum may get from the Rogers estate will be enough to bring its collections up gradually to a high standard; but it should not discourage other gifts for the same purpose. Double that amount could be easily spent in the course of every year toward the desirable object of building up a collection,which would be invaluable to students and stimulating to aesthetic education of the public.

Auctioneers' Discretion.

MAY DECLINE BIDS OF IRRESPONSIBLE BIDDERS.

An opinion was rendered by Justice McAdam this week in Supreme Court—Special Term, which gives judicial authority to what had hitherto been the practice in the real estate auction room, namely, to decline to receive the bids of bidders who could not establish their bona fides when challenged. The opinion in which the facts of the case are stated is given below, but it may be as well to mention that the auctioneer who conducted the sale was Wm. M. Ryan, and the property sold, Nos. 4 and 6 Washington place, which was offered to satisfy a mortgage of $161,213, held by the Irving Savings Institution, given by Julius A. Robinson, who afterwards became mentally incompetent:

Irving Sav. Inst. v. Robinson et al.—Property at an auction sale must be sold to the highest bidder (Code Civil Pro., sec. 1678), which means the highest responsible bidder, one ready as well as able to carry out the terms of sale and to pay down the 10 per cent. deposit required. "The whole theory of an auction sale proceeds depends upon the ground that the highest responsible, bona fide bidder is entitled to the goods. Otherwise an auction is a farce * * * Doubtless the auctioneer must have the right for his own protection to reject the bids of an irresponsible party." (Benjamin on Sales, 6th Am. ed., by Bennett, 454; 1 Am. & Eng. Ency. of L., 1st ed., 989; Den v. Zellers, 7 N. J. L. R., 153; Gray v. Veirs, 33 Md., 18; Holder v. Jackson, 11 Up. Can. C. P., 543; Green v. Meyer, 44 N. Y. Supp., 81; Leslie v. Saratoga B. Co., 31 Misc. R., 129; Kinney v. Shoudy, 1 Hill, 544). Even a municipality may reject a higher bid of men of doubtful and unknown financial credit made for a franchise and accept a lower one of a competing corporation of known financial strength (Barbite v. Home Tel. Co., 50 App. Div., 25; In re Marsh, 93 N Y. 431). The term highest bidder necessarily carries with it the idea of financial ability of an amount sufficient to successfully carry out the undertaking in which the party has offered to engage. At the present auction sale the property was started at $167,000, and was then raised by a bid of James R. Smith to $168,000. Thereafter a lady in black made a statement as follows: "One hundred and eighty-two hundred." From other things the lady in black said her evident purpose was to break up rather than assist the sale. The moving papers also allege that a Mr. Dunn made a bid of $169,000, which was not recognized. No one seems to know anything about the mysterious Dunn, his domicile, business or responsibility, and Dunn himself has not come forward to tell who he is, or what he amounts to financially. No one conducting the sale heard of Dunn or his bid. Emeline S. and Mary C. Robinson, heirs and devisees of the owner of the fee, swear that they bid $200,000 for the property, and that their bid was ignored. While they were evidently acting under excitement and almost unconscious of what they were saying at the sale, the court would, nevertheless, if there was any evidence of their ability to carry out the purchase, receive the mere suggestion from a responsible source of an offer of $200,000 as entitled to great weight. Considering Smith's bid of $168,000, was not the sum of $200,000 rather an erratic bid to follow? Does the mere circumstance not cast doubt upon its bona fides? In addition to these facts, the Robinsons do not show that they had $20,000 with them at the sale, to pay the required 10 per cent., and from their silence on this all-important subject it is safe to assume that they did not carry that amount of money with them to the Exchange Salesroom. Everyone knows that an auctioneer at a sale requires ready money, and that a person without it may as well stay away. Unless they had this amount of money, $20,000, with them they were not entitled to be recognized as bidders, and even if they bid upon the property the auctioneer had the right to ignore it. Furthermore, not one word is said about the pecuniary responsibility of these two ladies, no offer has been made to bid more than $168,000, the sum the property brought at the sale, and not a particle of evidence has been furnished that the property is worth more than the purchaser, Mr. Smith, agreed to pay for it. Singularly, all these things so pertinent to a motion for a resale have been omitted from the moving papers (see People v. Bond St. S. Bank, 53 How. Pr., 336; Brush v. Schuster, 3 Abb. N. C., 73; Baker v. Baker, 22 Week, Dig., 137). Several cases hold that to authorize a resale the rule is that there must be a bona fide offer of an increased price, with satisfactory security (Lansing v. McPherson, 3 Johns, Ch. R., 424; Duncan v. Todd, 2 Paige Ch. R., at p. 102; Am. Ins. Co. v. Oakley, 9 id., at pp. 263, 264; Baker v. Baker, supra). All these rules have been disregarded by the moving parties, who take the sole ground that they were technically right and the sale in consequence irregular, one that ought to be set aside as of course. Where parties move against irregularities they should at least show that they are technically right themselves. To prove that they were improperly ignored by the auctioneer, the moving parties were bound to establish their right to recognition by the presence of $20,000 at the sale. They ought to have made known their pecuniary responsibility in some reliable manner and shown that some injury had come to them by the acts of which they complain. Setting aside a judicial sale is not altogether matter of course, and if parties intend to invoke a discretion they should set forth facts making it appear to the judicial conscience that the same ought to be exercised in favor of the moving parties. Nothing of the kind has been done here. To set aside the present sale would be to encourage illusory and "fake" biddings, and tend to bring auction sales into disrepute. The property was regularly sold, at a fair price, to the only bona fide bidder, whose purchase should not be disturbed. Motion for resale denied, with $10 costs.

The New Harvest.

ITS COMMERCIAL SIGNIFICANCE.

With May the American harvest season begins in the Texas wheat districts, and ends in August in northern Minnesota. As a factor in the domestic trade movements of the country, the arrival of a new harvest is a matter of first importance. Its prospects are made the basis of trade anticipations on which the volume of production in all divisions of enterprise for subsequent months of the year is based with a remarkable degree of confidence. The demands of rural sections for manufactured articles are influenced directly by these anticipations, so that with the opening of the harvest it is pretty well ascertained in advance what the country's consuming capacity is likely to amount to for the next half year or more. The state of the harvest in foreign countries, whose deficit, in the wheat supply particularly, must be partly made up from the domestic surplus, is usually so well ascertained in advance as to enable the commercial interests of the country to predict the general level of prices on which the producer will market his crop. If the deficit abroad is unusually large the farm price at home is likely to be exceptionally high, and vice versa. The available resources of the cereal-growing territory are thus forecasted, not only by the transportation interests involved, but equally so by the manufacturing concerns most closely connected commercially with the rural trade.

Probably at no former period of the commercial history of the United States has there been a greater degree of economic harmony among these three grand divisions of enterprise—manufacturing, transportation, and agriculture. Whatever causes may be assigned for this result the fact remains that the commercial position of the producer of farm products is such that he is fully able to take care of himself as a bargainer. The route between producer and consumer has been greatly shortened and the competition among manufacturers in the distribution of their products throughout rural communities has enhanced the exchange value of every commercial product of the farm.

Another feature of strength in the farm market of to-day lies in the ability to reach the market earlier in the season than was formerly the case. Toward the end of the harvest year scarcity of supply usually raises prices and keeps them at a higher mark until the arrival of a new crop. The earlier receipts are, therefore, in a position of especial advantage.—Treasury Department Report.

SMOKE FLUES—ALLEGED VIOLATION OF LAW.

For several weeks past the Board of Underwriters have had their own inspector at work watching some of the buildings in course of erection to detect violations of the law with especial regard to the construction of flues. This inspector reported specific instances of violations which were laid before Commissioner James G. Wallace by a committee of the board. Commissioner Wallace assured the committee that he would co-operate with them for the detection of violations. The language of Section 65 of the Building Code which governs the construction of smoke flues and chimneys leaves plenty of room for an honest difference of opinion, inasmuch as it specifies one style of construction for flues of all boilers, furnaces, bakers' ovens, large cooking ranges, smelting furnaces, and large laundry stoves, and another style of construction for other flues. The question naturally arises as to what is meant by a large cooking range, and is the word "boiler," used in connection with smelting furnaces or bakers' ovens, intended to cover the case of small boilers used in apartment houses for supplying steam heat and hot water?

An Architect's Prediction.

THE EFFECTS OF THE NEW TENEMENT HOUSE LAW.

A prominent architect who has had much experience in the designing of apartment houses and hotels was asked the other day what, in his opinion, would be the effect of the new tenement house law?

"Its effects," he answered, "will probably be very different from those anticipated by the Tenement House Commission, and also probably from those anticipated by the critics of the law. In the beginning, it would undoubtedly have tended to increase overcrowding in the tenement house districts, were it not for the fact that so many plans were filed at the last moment under the old law. A large proportion of the buildings called for by these plans are being erected and will afford sufficient additional accommodation to prevent the present conditions from becoming any worse during the next two or three years. In the meantime the New East River Bridge will be completed, and will in all probability encourage the settlement of a Jewish colony on cheaper land across the river. In this connection the facts remarked in the interview with Commissioner Guilfoyle of Brooklyn, reprinted in the last issue of the Record & Guide, are very significant. It is very probable that the ultimate effect of the stricter tenement house regulations will be to enormously accelerate the building of two-family dwellings in the Bronx, Queens and Kings. Wherever, that is, land can be obtained at a low enough price. At the present time, no doubt, such land is not sufficiently accessible; but it so happens the year in which the new tenement house law will really begin to be effective will be almost coincident with the completion of the subway and the New East River Bridge, whereby large areas of cheap unimproved land will become increasingly accessible, and there can be little doubt that the threat of an increase in tenement rentals, which the new law will hang over the heads of builders and owners, and by them communicated to the tenants will encourage a much wider distribution of the tenement house population than heretofore."

"But," the reporter asked, "would not such a distribution have taken place under the influence of the new transit conditions, no matter whether the new tenement house law had been passed or not?"

"Probably so," was the reply, "but the new law will give a great impulse to a distribution which otherwise would have taken place much more slowly. It must be remembered, also, that the law will not merely affect the cheapest tenements; it will also affect the cheaper flats, and will in this way encourage the return to small residences on the part of people who can afford to pay $30 a month rent or more. I expect to see within the next ten years the expansion of the Greater New York assume very different characteristics from those which it has assumed during the past fifteen years. The outer wards will fill up with astonishing rapidity, for the city adds 1,000,000 to the number of its inhabitants every decade."

"Will this expansion of the outer wards have any tendency to lower values in Manhattan?"

"I do not believe that it will. The influences which have created the present range of values are too permanent and important to be disturbed by the causes of which I am speaking. It is the demand for business quite as much as residence accommodations, which helps bring about that range of values, and business in Manhattan will be improved by the better housing of the working classes. In Manhattan I expect that the new tenement house law will intensify existing conditions rather than bring to pass new ones. Within a few years it is safe to say that the average area for apartment house construction will be 100x100 or more, and Washington Heights, so far as it is improved by flats, will be improved by large and not small flats, to the very considerable advantage of its appearance and to the increased comfort of its inhabitants. New York twenty years from now will be a city of big apartment houses and small one and two-story dwellings.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK.

The reports in the private sales market this week are typical of the dull season, referring chiefly to transactions few in number in dwellings and tenements, with a plot of lots here and there, the whole seasoned with suspicions of trading rather than of buying and selling. One elevator apartment house changed hands, that on 110th st, 200 feet east of 7th av, which probably should be classed as a trade.

There has also been a sale which we are not at liberty to publish of a 100x100 plot on Amsterdam av, on which a 9-sty fireproof apartment house will be erected. The importance attached to Mandelbaum & Lewine's purchase of the plot at Nos. 2 to 6 Hancock st, from the estate of Nicholas Low, is a sign of the dull if not the silly season, when topics worthy of discussion are absent and those chosen in desperation do not justify the argument. The purchase is in every way exceptional, yet it has been claimed that it is typical in promising a continuous and full supply of tenements of the cheaper sort, the building of which has been checked by the passage of the Tenement House Law of this year. The facts still leave this point in complete obscurity. Mr. Mandelbaum's own statement is that he purchased the plot because it was an odd one, and one in five thousand. In the first place, he bought it cheap; secondly, its frontage of 87.5 allows of the building of two 6-sty tenements, each with a frontage of 43.6½; and thirdly, the street is 50 feet wide, which makes it suited to building 6-sty non-fireproof tenements in accordance with the provisions of the new law. In other words, the plot in question has, by reason of its exceptional cost, dimensions and location, in its favor all the elements to make the erection of 6-sty tenements upon it, as profitable now, as it would have been under the old law, and that is the only reason why it was purchased, and not, as one would be led to believe from statements published this week, that the shrewdest operators in tenement houses had discovered that it was profitable to build under the new law, under the circumstances ordinarily surrounding tenement lots. Mr. Mandelbaum says he cannot see how it is possible to improve at a profit a regular 25-foot lot or any multiple thereof. Regarding a 100-foot lot in his opinion two 50-foot front houses would be too big, and three 33-foot houses under the law would have to be fireproof; 25-foot houses, he considered, entirely out of the question. This leaves the question practically where it has stood since the passage of the new law, viz., that the trade does not yet see its way to resuming the building of tenements—that is, actual, not simply legal tenements—in normal quantity. If,and whenever they do, the Record and Guide will promptly call attention to the fact.

The item of news that is perhaps the most encouraging to owners of what are, or were, tenement lots, is that relating to the purchase of Nos. 91 and 93 Hester st—the heart of a section hitherto profitably exploited by tenement builders—by Samuel Sass, hitherto a designer of tenements, who proposes to improve the site by the erection of a store and loft building. So far as land in Manhattan, and particularly that in the lower portion, is concerned, no one need be depressed about its future, because if one use fails, another equally, if not more profitable, will present itself in the course of time.

James L. Wells announces the auction sale of the Hotel Empire and other valuable properties for Tuesday, July 23d. They are named in our advertising pages and the auctioneer will supply maps and additional particulars at No. 141 Broadway.

Wm. Cole has a large plot of land, with coal plant, located on Gowanus Canal, to sell at auction, by order of trustee in bankruptcy, on Tuesday next. For particuars reference should be had to our advertising pages, or to the auctioneer, at No. 2 Court sq, Brooklyn.

Geo. R. Read has leased to the Hanover National Bank the ground floor, basement and 2d floor of the Smith building, at the southwest corner of Wall and New sts. The bank is about to erect a new building on its property, at the southwest corner of Pine and Nassau sts.

The Rossmore Hotel, recently purchased by the Barney-Morse syndicate for $700,000, has been leased by Patrick Roach for three years, at $43,500 per year.

OUT OF TOWN.

S. Osgood Pell & Co. have sold the following properties: For William Arnold, his handsome country residence at Great Neck, L. I., on the Sound, containing about 15 acres, for $100,000; for a Mr. Recknagel, his handsome place, adjoining, of about 15 acres, for $75,000; for the Hewlett estate, the property adjoining on the other side, consisting of about 20 acres, for $65,000; and the property in the rear, belonging to E. V. W. Rossiter, Vice-President of the New York Central, for about $25,000, making a total of $265,000. The buyer is one of the richest men in America, and will build a handsome country residence at a cost of about $500,000, making a total investment of $750,000.

REAL ESTATE NOTES.

Ex-State Senator Thomas C. Dunham, Emanuel Blumenthal and John Norton have been appointed commissioners of appraisal in the proceedings to be taken by the city to acquire the land on Lenox av, between 136th and 137th sts, for the new city hospital.

C. W. Gaylor, real estate broker, of No. 1123 Broadway, Townsend Building, is an energetic and successful worker. His specialties are the sale and exchange of investment properties, and the placing of mortgage loans. Mr. Gaylor's telephone call is 723 Madison Square.

Corporation Counsel Whalen, in reply to questions by Alderman Goodman, has advised him that the city has no power to enforce an ordinance compelling property-owners on street corners to place street signs on their buildings, and that signs cannot be attached to corner buildings without the consent of the owners.

Henry D. Winans & May report that $385,000 was paid for the plot 57.2x120, at the southeast corner of 5th av and 75th st, recently sold by them to Simon Guggenheim, who will erect a dwelling for his own occupancy. Also that B. A. Williams will erect two 5-sty fireproof American basement dwellings, one 40 and one 36.6 front, on 5th av, between 83d and 84th sts.

The New York & Portchester Railway Company, recently incorporated to build a trolley line from Bronx Borough to Port Chester, promises to carry passengers from Port Chester to the City Hall in fifty-four minutes. This it will do, the promoters say, by connection with the express trains of the Manhattan Railway Company. This reliance upon the Manhattan makes it doubtful whether the promoters have really studied the problem they have in hand.

The Rapid Transit Commission held a special meeting on Wednesday and received from Henry Lewis Morris, a lawyer of No. 16 Exchange place, a proffer of a gift of the land necessary for the station of the Rapid Transit Railway to be built at 149th st and Mott av. Mr. Morris is a property-owner in that part of town, and he believes that the tunnel is going to be of so great advantage that he can well afford to present the land necessary for the station to the commission. He offers to give it with certain nominal reservations which will preserve his rights in the adjoining property. The commission will probably accept the gift.

Building Commissioner John Guilfoyle's report of the work of his department in Brooklyn for the quarter ending June 30 has been completed, and contains much information. During the quarter, 634 applications covering 1,160 buildings, with a total estimated cost of $6,529,535, were filed and acted upon. These include 240 private houses, ranging in cost from $20,000 to $70,000; 325 tenements, averaging $15,000; 1 office building, 23 factories and shops, 5 schoolhouses, 4 church buildings, and 503 frame structures. During the quarter, 1,248 buildings were begun, and 509 were completed. The number of new buildings in course of erection on June 30th was 4,939. In the Fourth Ward no buildings were commenced or completed. All the other wards showed buildings begun. In addition to the Fourth Ward, the Second, Sixth and Nineteenth showed no work completed.

The number of plans for alterations acted upon was 554, covering 590 buildings, and the total estimated cost was $1,011,166.

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court has granted an order for the publication of a notice of a hearing to be held on Sept. 4 next, at 10.30 a. m., upon an application by the Rapid Transit Commission for the appointment of three commissioners to determine and report after due hearing whether the Rapid Transit Railway in the Boroughs of Brooklyn and Manhattan ought to be constructed and operated. This step is necessary in default of obtaining the consent of property-owners along the route, and, if any opposition develops at the hearing by the court's commission, it will most probably come from Broadway (Manhattan) property-owners whose subterranean rights are threatened by the proposed tunnel along that thoroughfare, from City Hall to South Ferry.

FRENCH INFLUENCE ON AMERICAN ARCHITECTURE.

It is admitted by all competent observers that the most powerful single influence which is operating on American architecture at present is the influence of the Paris Ecole des Beaux-Arts, the school at which so many of the younger American architects have studied. The methods and traditions of this school are fully described and studied in a special number of the Architectural Record, devoted to that purpose, and any student of architecture or any young man who proposes to practice it, will find much information in this number which will be very useful, and which cannot be conveniently obtained in any other way. This issue of the magazine contains also a descriptive and fully illustrated account of the work of those American architects who have come most under the Beaux-Arts influences. Copies may be had by applying to the Architectural Record, 14 and 16 Vesey St. Price 65 cents, including postage.

Material Market.

There was little news of interest in the building material market during the week, except in some of the more unimportant commodities like linseed oil, which made a sensational advance of 10@12c. a gallon.

BRICKS.—There is a good supply of bricks at the docks, and there is a steady demand, but they do not enter into consumption freely chiefly on account of the scarcity of available teams for hauling. The hot weather last week knocked out the horses, and this week brewers and others are paying $14 a day for teams, while the brick men and contractors pay only $12, which accounts in some measure for the shortage.

The supply of bricks is of excellent quality. Indeed, brickmen claim there has been a steady improvement in the grades for the past two or three years. The output this year is short in quantity, owing to the inclemency of the weather and the scarcity of laborers, but the aggregate output for the season will probably be up to the average. The demand this season has been a little better than last season at this time.

LUMBER.—Spruce lumber is scarce, and sells readily at from $16 to $20 per thousand, the average price being about $17.50. Laths also are gobbled up as rapidly as they come in, slab spruce bringing $2.50. There is little prospect that spruce lumber will be any more plentiful until along towards fall. Many of the Maine mills are shut down owing to the scarcity of logs, and the rivers are low by reason of the drouth.

Yellow pine from first hands is in the dumps. The yards are well-filled and the retailers are doing only a fair business.

WINDOW GLASS.—There is still some talk of an advance in prices on the part of manufacturers who claim that their stocks are getting low, but dealers believe that in the present state of the market such an eventuality is not probable. The discount on domestic glass is still 80 and 20 per cent. off the list. Only the small sizes of plate glass are being imported, the prices of the large brackets being too high to permit importations.

LINSEED OIL.—Early in the week the prices of linseed oil were advanced to 82@83c. per gallon for city raw, 84@85c. for city boiled, and 81@82c. for out-of-town raw, all from American seed. Oil from Calcutta seed is still quoted at 85c.

CEMENT.—Rosendale cement is quoted unchanged at 95c.@$1.05 a barrel, and the output this season up to the present time exceeds the output for the corresponding time last year. Domestic Portland cement is offered at $1.65@1.80, according to quantity, for standard brands. There is some cutting of prices among low-grade domestic cements, but these do not affect the market for standard Portland. The domestic manufacturers are generally well satisfied with the result of the season's business so far. Supplies at the mills are generally reduced, and some mills are sold right up to their daily output.

IRON AND STEEL.—Expectations that the Pittsburg conference will, in spite of all that is said, in the end dispose of the strike bugaboo, makes the minds of local dealers easier on that score. Business here continues slack, however, as is usual at this season, and the mills are not receiving many new orders, though they are still busy on old. There was a little weakening in black sheets, but the prices ex-store are unchanged as quoted.

TIN PLATES.—The trust has announced that present prices will continue through the year. Roofing tins are moving slowly, owing to the hot weather, but bright plates are selling well. Exports of tin plates for the 10 months ending April, aggregated 1,300,000 lbs. against 275,000 lbs. for the same period last year, and 183,000 lbs. in the corresponding months of 1898-99, when the export business practically began. There has been an astonishing decrease in the imports of tin plates during the past ten years. The imports for 1900 were 23,670 lbs., as against 4,617,000 lbs. in 1890. The production of tin plates in 1892 was only 18,303 long tons, while last year the output was 302,655 long tons.

EIGHT-HOUR LAW NOT IN QUESTION.

The report that the Court of Appeals had upheld the eight-hour law in the well-known case of Eugene Lentilhon against the Comptroller, is contradicted by L. Laflin Kellogg, counsel for Mr. Lentilhon, who says that the question at issue was simply one of procedure. Application was made for a writ of mandamus to compel payment of moneys due on contract for removing the 42d st reservoir, and refused by the Comptroller on the ground that the eight-hour and prevailing rate of wages laws had been violated. The Court of Appeals, according to Mr. Kellogg, decides that this is not the proper course to take, and an action at law to recover the amount in dispute will be begun, when the constitutionality of the eight-hour laws will be questioned.

OF INTEREST TO THE BUILDING TRADES.

I. J. Brown has returned from an extended trip, which he took, in company with Mrs. Brown, after the Kansas City convention, going all through Nebraska and as far as Denver.

The heat has not deterred applicants for a certificate of competency from the Examining Board of Plumbers. The number of applicants each month keeps up the average, although many do not pass the examination who apply.

Commissioner of Building James G. Wallace yesterday announced the following appointments in the borough of the Bronx: Joseph Gordon, superintendent of buildings, $2,500 per annum. John A. Mason, superintendent of buildings, $2,500 per annum. Lillian Kaplan, confidential stenographer, $1,200 per annum.

The State Board of Charities are urging the city authorities to erect a new and modern hospital to take the place of the old buildings now being used by Bellevue Hospital. It is estimated that the new buildings would cost about $2,000,000.

Samuel I. Rockmore, contractor for metal ceilings and side walls, has removed from No. 166 East 3d st to No. 280 Henry st, where he will carry a large stock, including the latest designs. Mr. Rockmore makes features of prompt work and low prices.

Selling material to finish stuck jobs, says "The Metal Worker," is going on at times, but the lines are being drawn so close that all sorts of subterfuges have to be used to obtain the same, even so far as delivering the material at one place and then carting it away to where it is to be put in.

A new maternity hospital, to be known as The Manhattan Maternity Hospital and Dispensary, will be erected somewhere on the East Side. Dr. J. Clifton Edgar, Daniel S. Lamont and William Thorne are members of the board of directors. The new institution has an endowment fund of $1,000,000.

Karl Mathiasen, President of the New Jersey Terra Cotta Co., will sail on the "Umbria" July 20, for a two months' trip abroad. He will be accompanied by his wife. This will be Mr. Mathiasen's first trip across the ocean in twelve years. Mr. E. V. Eskesen, secretary and treasurer of the company, will manage the business during Mr. Mathiasen's absence.

The buildings along Delancey st sold under the hammer of Peter F. Meyer, Wednesday, to make way for the approach to the New East River Bridge, must be demolished within sixty days. The work of clearing the site is in the hands of the engineers to the New East River Bridge Commission. Myer Hellman, F. W. Seagrist, Jr., & Co., Candee & Krekeler Co., Thomas Krekeler Co., and the Northwestern Salvage Wrecking Co. were the dealers in second-hand materials who bought.

Close to $100,000,000 is the total estimated cost of new buildings and alterations to old buildings, for which plans were filed during the first half of this year, compared with less than $45,000,000 during the same period in 1900. These figures are for Manhattan, Bronx and Brooklyn Boroughs. The former leads, with an estimated expenditure of about $75,000,000 for new buildings against over $11,000,000 in Brooklyn, and about $6,000,000 in the Bronx. In the way of numbers, Brooklyn comes first with more than 1,900 new structures; Manhattan next, with about 1,200, and the Bronx last, with close to 700, making a total of about 3,800 for the six months, against about 2,400 in the same period last year.

In keeping with the growth outlined above is the increase in the business and facilities of the firm of Louis Bossert & Son, whose Brooklyn planing mills, warehouses, offices, lumber yards and docks, occupy some 18 acres of ground, with frontages on Grand st and Newtown Creek of over half a mile. The entire plant is new, or modernized, to promptly supply all kinds of house trim. Their planing mill has a frontage of 250 ft. on Grand st, is four stories high, of brick, with blue stone trimmings, and equipped with the latest and most approved machinery for turning out house trim of all kinds, including sashes, doors, stairs, store fronts, flooring, shingles, blinds, mouldings, brackets, newels, lath, joists and not forgetting the Excelsior Sliding Blind, which is a great favorite with builders. The warehouse on Grand st, next to the planing mill, is also four stories high and about 150 ft. long. Messrs. Bossert's offices are in a handsome building, two stories high, with mansard roof; the interior is commodious, and especially arranged to suit their business. The lower story is trimmed in cypress, and the second story, including the private office, in oak. Their plant and equipment is second to none hereabouts.

Fryer, with headings and complete cross-reference index, etc., etc. This volume is an absolute necessity to every Architect, Builder, Engineer, Real Estate Owner, Operator and Broker. Orders should be sent in at once to secure prompt delivery. Published by the Record and Guide, 14 and 16 Vesey St., N. Y. City.

CONVEYANCES.

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to their having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482, denote that the property is in section 2 block 482.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers, the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—The letters R. S. mean Revenue Stamp, as R. S. $8.00 means Revenue Stamp $8.00.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage is drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find Mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

July 5, 6, 8, 9, 10 and 11.

*Editor Record and Guide.

Lien is a claim against lessee for inside fixtures; therefore unlawful as to owner of property. P. Herter & Son.

†Editor Record & Guide:

The lien filed against The Harlem Market Company and myself by William Stauffer is unjust, as said Wm. Stauffer was never employed by me; neither has he had any connection with this operation; neither am I the contractor. My connection with this company being as architect and superintendent only.

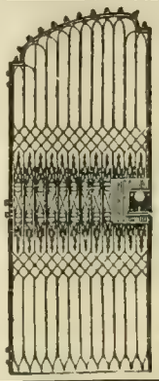
Artificial Stone.—In a recent report to the State Department Consul-General John L. Bittinger of Montreal refers to an artificial stone made from lime and sand and known as "Owen stone," from the name of the manufacturer. In its preparation quartzose sand is first dried by being heated, after which it is thoroughly mixed with hydraulic lime in the proportion of about 12 per cent of the latter to 88 per cent of the former. This mixture, still in a dry condition, is packed into very strong molds of any desired shape, the filled molds being subsequently built up in a steel frame or box. The latter is conveyed by tramway to an immense steel cylinder, inside of which it is placed, the cylinder now being closed and the door strongly bolted. Water near the boiling point is then admitted until the cylinder is full, and an indicated pressure of from 60 to 70 pounds maintained. The water is kept in a highly heated condition by steam coils running along the length of the cylinder inside.

On the admission of the boiling water the hydraulic lime in the molds commences to slake, and the pressure maintained assists in forcing the water into the sand and lime mixture so as to bring about complete slaking throughout the mass. The mixture being confined in strong molds, it follows that the expansion of the material consequent on slaking is not allowed free play, so that immense pressure is set up within the material itself, which tends to render it much more compact than might otherwise be the case.

It is important that as little air as possible should be admitted into the cylinder during the slaking; this is why the water is admitted at boiling point and the temperature kept up by steam coils instead of live steam being injected direct into the water.



When the lime is thoroughly slaked, the

WHERE the advance in the Stock Market of this week was not manipulated, it may be said to represent a reaction simply from the downward movement which began something more than a couple of months ago, and which was unduly accelerated by short sales invited by the crop scare, the Pittsburg strike and some minor bad news. The announcement of the harmony board for Northern Pacific, though it caused shorts to run to cover, has not been followed by a sustained buying movement, or brought the public back into the market in any numbers. Not only do our own public appear as sellers, but the European is unloading here whenever opportunity offers. That the latter will continue to be sellers is apparent from the poor condition of trade throughout Europe and the panicky conditions that exist at several of the financial centres. The refusal of the British market to take the Indian loan, must be set down to its being already overloaded with government securities and fearing to assume further responsibilities with investors indifferent and the future uncertain. It follows then that we may not look for help from Europe. Our own situation cannot be considered satisfactory by any means. The west and south have participated heavily in the recent stock speculation, and may have to draw home their funds before crops are moved. Labor troubles are sufficiently numerous, and in instances individually large enough to give anxiety and the crop outlook is not as rosy as it might be. Without accepting all of the reports of damage done, it would be unsafe to assume that with two such setbacks as delayed seeding and planting, owing to a cold and protracted spring, and the summer heat and drought, the farmer and the carrier have no anxieties as to the final results. It will take some time to ascertain what the actual damage has been, but it must have been considerable, with the danger of more not entirely removed. No experienced business man need be told that general activity is affected by the extent of the buying power of the farmer for the time being, and that this buying power is more or less as crops are abundant or meagre.

THE importance which the question of the municipal ownership of natural monopolies has assumed in the Ohio gubernatorial contest must be considered accidental and factitious. The question is a local one, and very little benefit can be obtained by raising it to the level of a state issue. Theoretically, indeed, the general question is hardly worth discussing at all. It is pretty well agreed among economists that a city which was able to make the very most of its financial resources would retain the ownership of all public franchises, and operate them in the interest both of the city treasury and the people who use such services. But it is also almost as generally recognized that under prevailing conditions, it is inexpedient for the municipal government either to venture too far into the business of actually operating street railways and running electric light works, or to interfere too much with the service given by private corporations. In each separate city the problem should be treated according to the special conditions prevailing in that city. How can the best service be obtained for the public and at the same time the largest amount of income made for the city treasury? That is the question which always has to be answered, and which will naturally be answered differently in different cities. The answer will depend upon a number of different special conditions, such as the terms upon which existing franchises are held, the quality of service which the corporations afford the city, their willingness to pay adequately for their privileges, and the general reliability of the municipal officials. Thus it is never a case for the heedless application of doctrinaire theories either as to the dangers of municipal socialism, or the unquestionable superiority and economy of services performed by the municipality. The questions to be decided should be settled by business men on business grounds.

Insurance—How to Save Money.

FROM time to time circumstances come to our attention that show that builders and owners, through ignorance of its provisions, do not obtain anything like all the pecuniary benefits the insurance schedule offers them. This is largely due to the fact that neither has learned the value of expert assistance and opinion upon this important item of expense. Only recently we heard of a case where, on the advice of an insurance broker, the owner of a commercial building, by a few inexpensive changes, putting in some water buckets and replacing common glass in a skylight with wire glass, was immediately recouped the cost several times by a reduction of his insurance premium. In another instance, similar expert advice removed the necessity of tearing apart a building, about to be converted from domestic to business uses, in order to supply a flue for a furnace, which eventually was cheaply erected at the rear of the building, so that the cost of alterations was much reduced. In both instances it was only by accident that the owners found out what they could do to reduce their expenses so materially. A competent insurance broker is a potential benefactor for the property owner. This is especially true of owners of mercantile buildings. There are many property owners in New York who are paying yearly hundreds of dollars in insurance premiums which they might save by the expenditure of a few dollars for alterations in the building or for the installation of preventive apparatus.

The key rate for fireproof buildings under the mercantile schedule is 10 cents on the $100, and the specific rate on any building is made up by adding the specified rate for faulty construction or mismanagement. Thus each building is rated on its own merits or demerits. For unprotected cast-iron columns the penalty is $1.50 on every $1,000 of insurance as long as they remain unprotected. If the openings on the floor, stairs or elevator, have not proper coverings, the owner is assessed $5.00 on the thousand; if the heating apparatus is unsafe $25.00 a thousand, and if the defects in the heating apparatus are not remedied the policy will be cancelled. A downtown broker several days ago showed the writer a schedule on which the rate had been reduced from 90 cents to 50 cents, a reduction of 44 per cent. The principal changes made were the placing of metal doors between two buildings, thus reducing the area and the number of tenants; the reconstruction of the skylight by putting in wire glass instead of plain, the elimination of a stairway charge by boxing the stairs, the addition of two watchman's clocks, the placing of fire buckets on every floor, and having the packing done in the vault instead of in the basement. Apartments and tenements have a special rating, the premium being $1.00 on the thousand, unless the area is over 2,500 square feet. If there are stores on the grade floor the rate is $2.00, and if any business is carried on above the grade floor, such as dentists' offices or the like, the risk comes under the mercantile schedule and is specifically rated.

These facts not only show that owners often pay higher premiums than they need to, but also that the insurance of a building is a technical and complicated question, which can only be satisfactorily answered by the expert. Yet we doubt whether the average builder ever thinks of submitting the plans of a building before erection to an insurance broker for examination and opinion as to whether they can be improved upon in order to later save fixed charges, or whether the average owner asks his broker to go over the whole ground and make a comprehensive insurance report, showing whether, if anything, what can be done to save premiums, as he would go to an architect, or engineer for a report on structural defects. Yet it would, in our opinion, pay to do it.

HOWEVER much one may question the industrial value of the local expositions which are being or are to be held in various parts of the country, the stimulus they give both to the popularization and improvement of American architecture, painting and sculpture, is unquestionable. Architecture, especially at the present time, suffers from two serious handicaps. One is the utter lack of any appreciation of the best work of American architects both on the part of the public, and frequently on the part of the clients, who employ them. The other is the equally serious deficiency of architectural opportunities, which give the designer a chance of using his sense of proportion and formal beauty. The conditions under which any but the most expensive city houses are built, for instance, present an essentially incomplete architectural problem, and afford the architect no real chance to design anything except the section of a wall. The "sky-scraper" is merely an exaggerated instance of the artistically impossible buildings, for which American architects are called upon to furnish plans. Some sky-scrapers may be better than others, but no buildings of such proportions can be beautiful. These expositions, on the contrary, offer the most admirable and complete opportunities for purely formal and complete designs. A commission of architects jointly lay out the grounds of the exposition, so that each building has its proper approaches, and background, and its dimensions, on the same scale with the surrounding buildings. Then within these general conditions each individual building presents a problem of its own more or less separate and complete, which the architect can work out without any restrictions as to 25x100 lots or the maximum rentable space. He is required, that is, to show whether he has any genuine architectural imagination, any power of originating intrinsically beautiful and appropriate forms instead of being required to show mere architectural ingenuity—mere power to adapt some arbitrary detail to an ill-proportioned surface—and he has the additional advantage of having the work designed under such happy conditions called to the attention of the public by every device of advertising and every concatenation of circumstance. People flock from all over the country to see the exposition. The buildings are placed on exhibition, and are observed with more interest than would be possible under any other circumstances, so that the architect has the extraordinary benefit of really making an impression by his work, not merely on a few specialists, but on all sorts and conditions of people.

IN this connection it is gratifying to observe that the management of the St. Louis exposition have followed in the example of their predecessors and selected a really representative commission of architects. The Board is to include Cass Gilbert and Carrère & Hastings of New York, Walker & Kimball of Boston, D. B. Burnham & Co. of Chicago, Van Brunt & Howe of Kansas City, and in addition five firms of local St. Louis architects, the work of several of whom is favorably known all over the country. The list includes a larger proportion of local firms than was the case either at Chicago or Buffalo; but it cannot be said that the proportion is too large, for not only is the work of these local architects much better than it used formerly to be, but it is much more desirable that they should have the educational experience, which the work affords, than that it should be given exclusively to architects who have already had chances to profit by similar opportunities. It is to be hoped, however, that the chairman of the board will be selected from the firms who have already had some training in that class of work. Chicago and Buffalo have set a very high standard which it would be disastrous for St. Louis not to equal, and the only way that as good results can be obtained is by the corrective use of the experience which has already been gained. The board is certainly confronted by a most difficult task, for it must aim not only at excellence but at some degree of originality. The American public have come to expect in these expositions an architectural sensation—something not only which other people call beautiful, but which has the flavor and zest of novelty. If the board of architects can manage to produce this effect, so necessary as an advertisement to the exposition, without descending to anything like the architectural frivolity of the Paris show of last year, they will be doing well. Fortunately they have sufficient money, time, experience and talent at their disposal, and until the reverse is proved it may be assumed that the job will be well done.

IF the Municipal Assembly are guided by the wishes of the people on either side of the Harlem River, they will promptly grant the Union Railway Company's application for permission to carry their tracks over Central or Macomb's Dam Bridge, and the viaduct at 155th street, that is now before them. Realty interests have urged this connection for a long time, and the break in the street railway systems at the point named is daily the cause of inconvenience to many people. It is claimed that the act of 1890, under which the bridge was rebuilt forbids its use for railway purposes of any kind, but the general powers given to the city under later enactments, notably the last charter, most probably release the bridge to its fullest public uses.

Corporations in Realty.

LIST OF OWNING AND SPECULATIVE REAL ESTATE COMPANIES.

We print herewith a list of corporations which have been formed for the purpose of owning or operating in real estate in Manhattan. These corporations are of very different sizes, and are organized for widely different purposes. Their capitalization varies from a few thousand dollars to $20,000,000. Some have been organized for the purpose of erecting and owning a particular building. Others for the purposes of general speculation in New York real estate. Still others represent in corporate form a large building firm, which found some sort of corporate organization convenient for the carrying on of its business. But widely as the purposes for which they are formed vary, they are all indications of very important tendencies, which are assuredly working important transformations in the conditions under which New York real estate is owned, and the methods whereby operations in real estate and improvements of it are financed.

Undoubtedly the great fact which is making for the increase of corporate ownership and management of New York real estate is the constantly increasing capital, which is necessary for the proper conduct of such transactions. Speculation in this class of property was at one time confined for the most part to small parcels, and could be carried on by men with only a limited bank account. There have always been, of course, large speculative builders, who invested a great deal of their own capital in the improvements they undertook, but such builders used for the most part money which they borrowed on building loans, and were rarely in a position strong enough to tide them over an unsuccessful operation. They built comparatively small houses, which were meant to be sold quickly, either to residents or investors. At the same time, large building operations were undertaken almost entirely by investors, or business men. Large office buildings, or lofts, were rarely built on a speculative basis, because the demand for such buildings was small, and the builders could not afford to wait upon such a restricted market. Yet, of course, such operations offered every bit as large opportunities of profit as the commoner class of speculative operations. Consequently, it was inevitable in the long run that they should be undertaken, as they have been so frequently of late years, by people who could afford not only to erect them, but to wait for a favorable opportunity to sell them.

The number of such operations are increasing enormously. Many of them are undertaken by individual operators, who themselves control the necessary capital. But more often they are being built by groups of capitalists, who organized a corporation for the purpose, or in some similar way distribute both the responsibilities and the profits of the enterprise. Many different methods have been used for the purpose, but the tendency is strong, both for big building, loaning and speculative syndicates to take on corporate form, and in that way minimize the individual liabilities of their members. And the tendency will surely increase, both because there is more money in big operations, and because bigger and bigger operations are demanded by the conditions of the New York real estate market. In almost every class of property this statement is true. There is more money in expensive than in cheap residences, and a large number of expensive residences are being built. There is more money in elevator 7-sty apartment houses built on four lots than on 5-sty flats built on one lot. There is more money in 18 or 20 than there is in 15-sty office buildings. Indeed, other things being equal, the difference between a profitable and unprofitable operation is to a large extent the difference between obtaining a large plot on which to build and erecting a big building upon it, and in improving a small plot with a small building. The odds are all in favor of the big operator—just because expenses of improvement and management do not increase proportionally with the size of the plot. This is conspicuously true of apartment hotels; but it is almost as much true of other tall fireproof buildings.

Hence, as we have said, the necessity of corporate ownership, and the extreme probability that this corporate owernship will go on increasing in amount until it becomes by far the most important single factor in the real estate market. There can be no doubt that so far the movement has only begun. Even the opeing-up of comparatively new districts, such as Washington Heights and the Bronx, is being controlled by syndicates. Furthermore, as the movement goes on, it is likely to assume a very different shape from anything which has been seen hitherto; and it is some of these remoter aspects of the movement which the Record and Guide proposes to discuss in subsequent issues.

LOCAL RIVER AND HARBOR IMPROVEMENTS.

Among the propositions that will go to Congress for river and harbor work are the following:

For Harlem River, $500,000 is recommended to be applied to widening and deepening the channel by dredging and in constructing bank revetment, if deemed necessary, in accordance with approved project.

Manhattan and The Bronx, together, are to have 42 of these establishments, and Brooklyn, Queens and Richmond the remaining 25. Work and maintenance of such of these branches as shall be located in Manhattan, The Bronx and Richmond are entrusted to the New York Public Library; those in Brooklyn to the Brooklyn Public Library; and those in Queens to the Queens Borough Library. Construction in the first-named three boroughs is limited to ten buildings a year. These authorities will select sites and ask the city to acquire them. The Board of the New York Library does not meet until October, and, it is presumed, will not commence action, as to selection of sites, architects, etc., until then.

A Builder's Troubles.

LABOR ORGANIZATIONS AS CONTRACTORS' DEBT COLLECTORS.

A peculiar state of affairs exists in the case of the building in course of erection at the corner of 16th street and First avenue. J. Roth and Michael Wielandt purchased the property from Lowenfeld & Praeger, who had foreclosed on a partly erected building begun by Samuel A. Robinson. They tore down part of the unfinished structure and began the erection of another building, when Edw. F. Roach appeared with a claim of $1,650 for work done under the old contract. Mr. Roach is a member of the Mason Builders' Association, and through the agreement with the bricklayers' unions, by which the bricklayers agreed not to work for any contractor or builder who owes any member of the Mason Builders' Association, endeavored to collect his debt. All the bricklayers unions in Manhattan and the Bronx have decided that the Roth-Wielandt job is regular except No. 7, of which John Donnelly is the walking delegate. Owing to the opposition of No. 7, the owners have had a great deal of trouble, and they regard the opposition of Delegate Donnelly as nothing short of persecution inasmuch as the delegates of the other unions are willing that the work should go on.

Mr. Wielandt is a mason builder, and was formerly a member of the association, and, as he desired to avoid trouble on other jobs he is interested in, he has deeded his interest in the First avenue and 16th street property to John Roth. Mr. Roth says his title to the property is unincumbered, and he is not responsible for Mr. Roach's claim of $1,650. He threatens to bring suit against John Donnelly and Bricklayers' Union No. 7 for damages incident to the delay and annoyance caused him.

Delegate Donnelly claims that he is justified in the stand he has taken because Mr. Roth has practically acknowledged the justice of Mr. Roach's claim. He charges that several weeks ago Mr. Roth offered to settle with Mr. Roach for 40 per cent. of the full amount, or $660; which proposition Mr. Roach rejected. In addition, Mr. Donnelly says that he was approached on June 15 by Max Juster with an offer of $500 cash, provided he would let the building proceed without further interference, which offer he rejected.

Mr. Juster confirms Mr. Donnelly's statements regarding the alleged offer of $500, and says he is willing to make affidavit to that effect. Delegate Donnelly refuses to abide by the decision of the Borough Council, and openly charges that one of the delegates of one of the other unions was "fixed," though he does not make his charges specific by mentioning any names.

The Mason Builders' Association is interested in the contest because the assistance of the bricklayers' unions has been very potent in collecting debts from owners who for one reason or another did not meet their obligations to the association's members. The agreement between the Mason Builders' Association and the Bricklayers' Unions has not been signed this year, pending the decision of the arbitration in the Stokes-waiting-time case. Delegate Donnelly sides with the association and holds that the old agreement is in force, while some of the unions hold that it is not.

Edward F. Roach says that Mr. Roth offered him 40 per cent. of his claim, but, as the matter was then in the hands of the delegates, he could not accept the offer.

STREET RAILROADS ON CENTRAL BRIDGE.

The long-talked-of connection, via Central Bridge, of the Metropolitan and "Huckleberry" street railroad lines, is to be the subject of a public hearing, by the Council Committee on Railroads, at the City Hall, on Thursday next at 2 p. m. From the terminus of the Jerome avenue line, at the intersection of Jerome and Sedgwick avenues, the railway company wishes to extend its line along the westerly approach to the Central, or Macomb's Dam, Bridge, and then southerly across the bridge, the 155th street viaduct and the Macomb's Dam road to the terminus of the 8th avenue line, between West 154th and West 155th streets. Then, from the intersection of Macomb's Dam Bridge and the viaduct, another extension is to pass in a westerly direction along the viaduct to the station of the Manhattan Elevated Railway Company, at Bradhurst avenue.

Real Estate Market.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK.

There is no question as to the future of real estate in New York more interesting both to property-owner, speculator and builder than the question of the future prevalence of apartment houses and tenements under the new transit and building conditions. In view of the fact that apartment houses and tenements have come to prevail in New York largely because of deficient means of communication, it has always been an open question, how far they would continue to be built and occupied after the East River had been sufficiently tunnelled and bridged, and after the Harlem had been brought within twenty minutes of the City Hall. It has not been generally noticed, however, that the new tenement house law might exercise a very decided influence in the final adjustment of this matter, for the new law increases the cost of building and diminishes the rentable space both in apartment houses and tenements, and consequently tends to put that form of improvement at a disadvantage compared with small and cheap dwellings. Under present transit conditions, this would make no difference, for there is no land which can be bought cheap enough to be improved with small dwellings; but when vast areas of unimproved property are opened up, as they will be within the next few years, it may make enough difference to throw the balance decidedly in favor of one and two-family residences. So, at all events, a well-known architect suggested in the columns of the Record and Guide last week, and the interest which the suggestion has aroused testifies to the importance of the problem under discussion.

The problem is an extremely complicated one, and doubtless the actual result of all the new and dubious influences will be something different from anything which the wit of man can anticipate. There can be no doubt, however, about the importance of the new tenement house law as a factor in the final result. Until the passage of the law, for instance, apartment houses and tenements were being erected more rapidly in the Bronx than small dwellings, and it looked as if the tenement would be able very easily to compete with the small residence even after the subway was in operation. But tenement house architects are now of opinion that the problem of getting sufficient renting space under the new law at a low enough cost is an impossible problem; and they anticipate a great falling-off in the building of such houses. But a discrimination should be made in this respect between tenements and apartment houses. The former will be built or left unbuilt wholly on economic grounds; it is simply a question whether the builder of a tenement or a small two-family dwelling can offer cheaper accommodations. But with families whose rent amounts to more than $30 a month, and who probably keep a servant, the case is very different. With such families, other considerations besides the price of rentable space per square foot have a due importance. The amount of service they can afford to hire goes further in an apartment than it does in a house; they can obtain their heat, gas for their stoves, and a number of conveniences at a lower price, and they can frequently have such additional advantages as telephones and the like thrown in. It is only in large apartmenthouses that these attractions can all be obtained; but the tendency is running strongly toward the erection of these large flats, and there is every reason to suppose that the builder of them will be able to hold his own in competition with cheap residences. But in order to do so, he must do his planning most intelligently and carefully; and he must operate on a large scale. Further and effective competition would arise, if it were possible to create a large movement to build the cheaper tenements, according to the example set by the City and Suburban Homes Co., but of this there is at present no prospect, and the 25x100 lot promises hereafter to be a negligible quantity in building operations, except for dwellings and small businesses.

The private transactions announced this week make a particularly good showing for this season of the year. Early in the week the sale of the Hoffman block, at Broadway, 57th and 58th sts, was announced, and denied, the purpose of the denial being to gain time to buy a saloon lease with which one of the parcels included in the sale is encumbered. The New York Realty Corporation are the buyers. There are negotiations on for another large plot in the same section, the closing of which may be announced any day.

Then came the news of the purchase of the Koster & Bial's leasehold by R. H. Macy & Co. An interesting fact connected with this transaction, and one not generally known, is that R. H. Macy & Co. first purchased the mortgages on the leasehold. The small corner of 34th st, bought by R. Smith & Co., continues to be the centre of much gossip. Henry Seigel, it is now stated, has bought an interest in this parcel, and together with this comes a report that a moderate-sized building will be erected, and on top of that a "Meet Me At The Fountain" statue. If this is so, it discloses the reason for the big price paid for the plot.

The most important sale of the week, however, is that of the Kemp Building, at the northeast corner of William and Cedar sts, by the New York Realty Corporation, to a builder who will erect a 15-sty office building on the site. The sellers bought the plot in May for $600,000. It has been resold to a corporation to be known as "No. 68 William Street, and at a considerable advance, although the executors of the Kemp estate in their application to the court for permission to sell, made the point that $600,000 was a big price for the property. The Bronx also would have made a promising showing, if the report of the sale of the Faile tract were true. It is, however, denied by C. H. Brush, attorney for the estate. The other sales reported are the usual flats and tenements, and several private houses in the 5th av residence section.

The event of the week was undoubtedly the deeding of the old Brooklyn Wharf & Warehouse Co.'s property to the committee representing the New York Dock Co., not merely because it transfers a very large amount of valuable property. That is merely a detail, largely technical, in a process of reorganizing an important business. The fact to be borne in mind is that the reorganization should bring to pass some of the benefits predicted for the borough as a result of the original organization, when a number of private firms and some companies sold out to the Brooklyn Wharf & Warehouse Co. The company were to do great things in the way of developing the property. They, however, struck hard times, and after a desperate struggle against them went under. However, the property and franchises have been kept together, and with new capital obtained and a better outlook the new company should be able to redeem some of the promises made by the old. This is sure to be the case, because in spite of setbacks, the shipping business of the borough cannot fail to grow, as the commerce of the nation expands. It follows, too, that real estate contigious to the property of the New York Dock Co. must feel the benefits of the latter's growing business and prosperity. It may be as well to state that the property transferred embraces the entire water front, with stores, warehouses and docking privileges from the Empire Stores, near Catherine Ferry, to the Atlantic Docks.

1st st, No. 457, between 7th and 8th avs, 3-sty private dwelling, lot 17x100; seller, John B. Luce; brokers, Burrill Bros.; price, $6,500.

REAL ESTATE NOTES.

Stephen McCormick, agent and broker, of Madison avenue and 129th st, is a busy and successful worker. He is well posted on values, has a list of carefully selected properties for sale and exchance, and thoroughly understands the management of realty. His telephone call is 341 Harlem.

E. S. Willard, broker and agent, has removed his up-town office from No. 509 5th avenue to the Depew Building, No 489 5th avenue, near 42d street, where he has larger offices to better accommodate his growing business. Mr. Willard is ably assisted at his 5th avenue office by Louis Lorillard, Jr., and J. S. Yardler, and at his main office No. 44 Pine street, by T. C. Wallace and H. B. Dwight.

Corporation Counsel Whalen, replying to an inquiry from Commissioner Dalton, regarding the return of arrears of water rents to the Collector of Arrears in Queens, says: "Charges now in question representing water furnished between May 1, 1900, and the date of the confirmation of the tax levy for that year, and which have not been transmitted to the Collector of Assessments and Arrears are not liens against any property, and cannot now be made liens, although they still remain personal liabilities of the consumers. It is needless to call your attention to the result of a failure to transmit to the Collector of Assessments and Arrears such rents as remain unpaid at the time of the confirmation of the tax levy in each year, as required by Section 1022 of the Charter, which may cost the city the entire amount in arrears." Although the question arises in Queens it is understood that the reply applies to the city at large.

Material Market.

The principal events of interest in the market for building materials cluster around the commodities iron and steel. There is much speculation as to just what effect the strike in the plate and sheet mills of the U. S. Steel Co. will ultimately have.

In the local market there has been a perceptible stiffening in prices of spot goods from store. Some manufacturers who use plates and sheets are sending in orders up to a specified amount without even asking the price, and the local dealers have found it necessary to limit the amount sold to early purchasers in order to protect their other customers.

The structural mills are not yet affected by the strike, and the only reason for the high price of beams and channels from store is the fact that the mills are overcrowded with orders, and cannot take any orders for prompt shipment. Beams range from 2.25 to 3c., according to size and quantity and seller. Angles, 2.10@2.20c.; tees, 2.30c.; bands, base, 2.20@2.40c.; hoops, 2.70 @4c.; galvanized sheets, 65% off the list; plates, 2.20c. for ¼-inch and heavier; sheets, No. 24, 3.70c.

All the mills of the American Tin Plate Co. with one exception are closed, and spot prices of both coke tins and ternes have been advanced 20c. Bruce & Cook say: "Business is good. We have had a good demand for sheets and tin plates for manufacturers' use. Roofing plates are slow as usual at this season. The cut at the mills has not affected the local price of black sheets; in fact, the price ex store has advanced to a basis of 3.70c. for No. 24. Some of our customers have endeavored to purchase our entire stock of certain sizes, but in order to protect other customers we have been compelled to refuse to sell them all we had."

Eggleston Bros.: "The market for bar iron and heavy plates is unchanged. Prices are just the same as last week. Spot stocks are light."

Ogden & Wallace: "The demand for goods out of stock during the past two weeks has been tremendous. Manufacturers are a little anxious about future supplies, and are not taking chances. A Jersey stove manufacturer has practically cleaned us out of a dozen sizes of sheets, and he did not even ask the price. The structural mills are running to their full capacity, and are generally behind with their orders. The spot price for beams ranges from 2.25c. to 2.75c., and if the present demand continues stocks will not last long."

Froment & Co.: "Stocks of beams are low, and if the strike extends to the structural mills contractors will begin to feel the pinch about September 1st, as the present local supply will not last longer than that date. We are getting all the way from 2.25 to 3c. for beams."

Prince & Kinkel Iron Works: "For the past two months our prices on structural materials have been somewhat higher than the prices asked by some of the other dealers, consequently our stock of beams is larger than it would have been, but even now our stock is of only moderate proportions. We are getting from 2.25 to 3c. for beams."

The general market for building materials is quiet, and no changes in prices are reported in bricks, cement, lime, paints, linseed oil, window glass or lumber. Laths show a slight decline, with the price ranging from $2.35 to $2.50 for slab spruce.

OF INTEREST TO THE BUILDING TRADES.

McBride & Co., Park avenue, corner of 130th street, are manufacturers and layers of parquet floors, etc. Estimates to architects, builders and others will be cheerfully given.

The tests of fireproof partitions, ordered by the Department of Buildings, to which previous reference has been made, will take place at 105th street and East River. It is expected that buildings will be commenced on Monday next, and tests applied in the course of ten days or a fortnight.

Starting on July 22, 1901, there will be a series of full-size weight tests of the Guy B. Waite 3, 4, 5 and 6-ft. flat floor arch construction at No. 507 West 14th street, Manhattan, under the supervision of the Board of Buildings.

Samuel Whinery, of the Warren-Scharf Asphalt Co., has been appointed to act with Engineers Boller and Prout in investigating as to the proper means of remedying the crush at the bridge terminal, and to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Thos. C. Clarke.

Laing & Noonan, dealers in masons' building materials, with offices at No 156 5th avenue (telephone No. 215 18th), have, to better accommodate their growing trade, opened a yard at 137th street and Madison avenue (telephone 435 Harlem). They make a specialty of Farnam's Cheshire lime, which has for years been used for all plastering purposes with good results.

The Building Trades Section of the Central Federated Union reported Thursday that they had appointed a committee to see Thos. E. Crimmins, chairman of the General Contractors' Association, with a view to settling a general strike of rock drillers and safety engineers which has been in progress for some time. The strikers demand an eight-hour work-day and an increase in wages.

Some members of the Board of Walking Delegates are now known as "business agents." There is, in fact, a movement on foot to do away with the designation altogether. Members of the building trades unions are in favor of calling their board the "Board of Delegates of the Building Trades." In time it is thought it will come to be known as the Board of Business Agents of the Building Trades, but it is believed to be too violent a change to introduce at once.

The Secretary of the Rapid Transit Contractors' Association has been instructed by the joint arbitration committee of the labor unions and the association to put in operation a new plan for the settlement of all grievances. This is to take the complaining delegate to the sub-contractor against whom complaints are made and leave the delegate and the contractor to settle the trouble. The committee will take up all such grievances at stated intervals as cannot be settled in this way.

A few of the many contracts for roofing, cornices, etc., satisfactorily executed, or in hand, by Furlong & Furlong, include the addition to J. H. Shipway & Bros.' mills at 136th street and Willow avenue; two alteration jobs on East 72d and 87th streets for Charles Stegmayer, and apartment houses on Beech Terrace and Bathgate avenue for Messrs. Wright and Gleeson, respectively. Messrs. Furlong's facilities are of the best for doing all kinds of roofing, cornices and skylights, and for making cellars and floors water-tight. Their offices and works are at 135th street, near 3d avenue, and telephone call 277 Melrose.

THE RECORD AND GUIDE TENEMENT HOUSE LAW.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

In the copy of "The Tenement House Law of New York," which I have (published by you), I note that there is an interregnum from section 5 to 11, 42 to 51, 85 to 91, 113 to 121, 129 to 131, 135 to 141, and 151 to 161. Were they left out intentionally or is the omission unintentional?

Answer.—Our publication gives the law as enacted. Our correspondent will notice that the omissions occur between the titles. This is a common practice in legislation, so that additional sections under the appropriate title may be added from time to time if thought advisable. This peculiarity will be noticed in the form of the charter also.—Editor Record and Guide.

NEW TENEMENT-HOUSE LAW.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

The tenement-house law (Record and Guide, July 6th): "Mr. Bloch thinks that the law is unconstitutional. . . . Mr. Bloch says that no attempt will be made to defeat such provisions as the lighting of halls, etc." "Mr. Bloch proposes to pray for an injunction . . . until the constitutionality of certain portions of the law can be decided by the courts." I wish to know (1) if a portion of such an act may be declared unconstitutional and all the remainder remain constitutional and operative; or, should one portion of the act be declared unconstitutional, would that not render the entire act unconstitutional and of no effect? (2) How long a time do you think it would take from the commencement of injunction proceedings until final decision of the Court of Appeals? (3) Would not such a matter be given precedence by the courts so as to hurry the settlement of the matter? (4) In your opinion is there any possibility of the entire act being declared unconstitutional?

Answer.—(1) No. (2) If no preference should be given to the case it would probably be more than two years. (3) I think that under the provisions of Section 791 of the Code of Civil Procedure, subdivision 3, a preference would be given to the case. In that event a decision of the Court of Appeals might be reached within a year. The fact that the constitutionality of an act is assailed in an action is not a ground for preferring the action, but the subdivision mentioned says that "An action or special proceeding in which the City of New York, or a board of officers, exercising powers conferred by a statute for the protection of public health or public or private property, or for the prevention or punishment of violations of a statute relating to either of those subjects. . . . are parties," may have a preference. (4) No.—Law Editor.

ACTS CONCERNING BROKERS APPLYING FOR LOANS.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

In connection with the new act making it a misdemeanor for brokers to offer loans without authority from the owner or his attorney in fact, kindly answer the following: (1) What constitutes an attorney in fact? (2) How is a broker to satisfy himself that the person representing himself as the owner's attorney in fact for this purpose actually is so? I understand that a general power of attorney does not always authorize the party to mortgage or sell the property unless such authority is specifically given. (a) Is this the fact? (3) Would the burden of responsibility be thrown upon the party representing himself as such attorney in fact should it transpire that he actually was not, and in this case would the broker be relieved of responsibility? (4) Supposing a broker to be duly authorized under the new act, would that legally empower such broker to authorize another broker or another third party to negotiate the same loan? (5) Would the same principles embodied in the above four paragraphs apply also to the sale of property under the new act?

Answer.—In order to be explicit, I give the text of the amendment of the Penal Code referred to (Chap. 128, Laws of 1901): "Section 640d. In cities of the first and second class, any person who shall offer for sale any real property without the written authority of the owner of such property, or of his attorney in fact, appointed in writing, or of a person who has made a written contract for the purchase of such property with the owner thereof, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Section 640e. In cities of the first and second class, any person who shall make application to any other person, or to any corporation, for a loan upon any real property without the written authority of the owner of such real property, or of his attorney in fact, appointed in writing, or of a person who has made a written contract for the purchase of such property with the owner thereof, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor." (1) An attorney in fact is thus defined by Bouvier: "A person to whom the authority of another, who is called the constituent, is by him lawfully delegated." (2) He can require the person representing himself to be the attorney in fact to produce a written power of attorney signed by the owner. (2a) Yes. (3) If a person presented reasonable evidence that he was the owner of the property or the attorney in fact of the owner, and the broker offered it for sale or made application for a loan upon it in good faith and relying upon the representations of such person he could never be convicted of a misdemeanor under this law. (4) Apparently under the law each broker must personally have written authority from the owner or the attorney in fact, but the law certainly does not contemplate that an employee of a broker, duly authorized, shall not offer the property for sale, or make application for a loan. (5) Yes; as will be seen by reference to Sec. 640d.—Law Editor.

MECHANIC'S LIEN.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A mechanic's lien is filed against a certain property by an irresponsible party who has no claim whatever either against the property or the owner, never having been connected with the building in question, either to furnish materials or to perform labor, but still for some unaccountable reason, files a lien

CONVEYANCES.

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to their having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482, denote that the property is in section 2 block 482.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers, the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—The letters R. S. mean Revenue Stamp, as R. S. $8.00. means Revenue Stamp $8.00.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage is drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find Mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

against the owner, in which he names the architect as contractor, and thereby causing considerable annoyance to both the owner and the architect, and unpleasant comment among the trades; is there any method of redress or action which can be instituted against the party, he having no means to warrant commencing damage proceedings, and is there any means of discharging such lien from record and to have the fact openly published that the same was unjust and without any foundation whatever? Kindly render your decision in this matter and oblige.

Answer.—If you do not wish to bring a civil action for damages on account of the irresponsibility of the offender you can proceed against him criminally for perjury. You can have the lien discharged at once by "bonding" it, or by depositing in the office of the County Clerk a sum of money equal to the amount claimed in the notice of lien, with interest to the time of deposit. As concerns openly publishing the injustice of the matter, I do not see that you can do anything more than you have already done in the issue of this paper of July 13.—Law Editor.

LIEN OF JUDGMENT.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Kindly answer the following: A owning some property in Westchester County transfers the same to B. A being aware that there are judgments against him docketed in Kings County, transfers the same to B, who searched in Westchester County and discovered no judgments. Are the judgments recorded in Kings County and not docketed in Westchester County valid liens, and is B's title to property in Westchester County good or subject to the judgments on record in Kings County?

Answer.—The judgments docketed in Kings County are not liens on the property in Westchester County. B.'s title to the property in Westchester County is free from the lien of any judgment docketed in Kings County.—Law Editor.

LANDLORD AND TENANT—MECHANIC'S LIEN.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A tenant purchases fixtures, etc., from a contractor and refuses payment on same for some reason; said contractor files lien against owner; is this legal, and what redress has owner in such case?

Answer.—If the "fixtures" were purchased without the consent or knowledge of the owner, the contractor cannot enforce his lien. The owner's easiest remedy is to "bond" the lien. He can also deposit the money in the County Clerk's Office and serve a notice on the contractor to commence an action to foreclose his lien.—Law Editor.

EXCAVATION—PARTY WALL.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

I am the owner of a house with party wall on rock about five feet below the curb. Owner of property adjoining is about to build. Now, must I go down ten feet, as his cellar is about that distance down, or is he compelled to protect my wall, or the party wall?

Answer.—Where the excavation is to be carried to a depth of not more than ten feet, the owner of the adjoining wall must protect himself, and where it is to be carried below that depth the maker of the excavation; each allowing the other access to the adjoining premises for the purposes of the work, according to which has to do it. In taking away rock the excavator must not disturb wall above it. In such cases as that of our correspondent it is the fair and not unusual thing for excavator, for his own as well as adjoining owner's sake, to shore wall before blasting.—Editor Record and Guide.

PAVING OF 86TH STREET.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Could you inform me whether it is proposed to asphalt 86th street, between Riverside Drive and the Boulevard or not? Contract has been given out for same, between Central Park West and Amsterdam avenue, and work is now going on; but none on above. The section referred to has been torn up and cobblestones replaced by gas company and street is in bad condition.

Answer.—The Park Department who have charge of this street, do not know when the section named will be repaved. The matter is delayed by some trouble with the street railroad interests and a question of grade line. The department are awaiting an opinion from the Corporation Counsel as to their powers in the matter.—Editor Record and Guide.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The New Rapid Transit Route

The interest taken in the new underground rapid transit route shows clearer than anything else how closely the future value of millions of dollars' worth of real estate is connected with this long-deferred enterprise.

So great was the demand for the rapid-transit maps issued recently by the Record and Guide, that the entire edition was exhausted.

A new edition is now ready for delivery; price, 10 cents; postage extra, 2 cents. The map has also been printed on bond paper. Price, 25 cents; postage extra, 2 cents.

Every real estate broker, and all who are interested in real estate should possess this map. It gives the route of the new transit lines, the location of all stations, sections of the road, etc. Will be needed for constant reference. Order at once. RECORD AND GUIDE OFFICE, Nos. 14 and 16 Vesey St., New York City.

Armored Concrete.—In Australia, Portland cement is largely used in the construction of tunnels, bridge abutments and piers, but in Germany, Austria and France a much more scientific application is made by the introduction of iron bars in the concrete. In these countries huge edifices, elegant bridges, aqueducts, metropolitan underground railways, reservoirs, elevated tanks, cold storage rooms, can all be seen in what is now known as armored concrete.

It is perhaps difficult to comprehend why, by using a small amount of iron rods in combination with concrete, it should be rendered capable of resisting enormous tensile stresses; but such has proved to be the case. Considerable difficulty in the past was experienced in exactly ascertaining how to calculate the value of this combination, but by long practical experience on all kinds of construction work absolute reliable data have been arrived at, and mathematical theory has been followed by successful practice.

The great advantages obtained by this system of construction are: Great strength and stability, elasticity, economy in construction, indestructibility by fire, costly painting dispensed with, architectural effectiveness and beauty of design.

The reason armored concrete can be more quickly constructed is that iron rods are easily obtained, whereas to obtain special designs in wrought or cast iron is a comparatively expensive, tedious and slow process, also necessitating a large body of skilled workmen, besides the loss of available section due to riveting of plates. This, however, is not the case in an armored concrete girder or column, as the tensile portions are formed of iron rods, and the concrete encasing it securely holds the rods together, at the same time forming the compressive portion. In fact,

WITH the more favorable home news, and the existence of a considerable short interest, an upward reaction in the Stock Market would not be surprising or unreasonable. Crop damage reports have probably had all the influence they can assert and that feature of the situation has been discounted for the time being. Call money is cheap and there are visible signs that the general situation is still a strong one. The decline from the latest high points of prices has been quite considerable and there is always hope for a turn on the long side from the fact that shorts have recovered confidence and are apt to overdo things, forgetting that stocks may at any moment become scarce through the temporary suspension of liquidations and realizations. The diminished supply of speculative securities through absorptions and cash purchases must remain for a long time a factor and temper any campaign against quotations. At the same time the movement of prices will in the long run be downward. The actual effects on railroad earnings and business generally, of the heavy damage crops have undoubtedly sustained, have yet to be seen. If there are reduced earnings and lessened activity, which is the natural inference, prices of quoted securities must fall. It must be remembered, too, that neither crop damage nor strike, nor both together, was the primary cause of the recent decline; it was inflated prices and the consequent deflation has not been completed. Europe still offers us no support. There seems to be a fear of something serious about to appear in the political sky to increase the depression caused by poor business and financial distrust. What this is no one seems to want to say, though hints are given of a new turn of affairs in the Far East as soon as the military difficulty in South Africa becomes one of simply policing the country.

IN perusing the story of the alleged irregularities in the filing of tenement plans, which has had so much attention in the daily press this week and which is briefly given in another column of this issue, it ought not to be forgotten that the voluntary organizations of reform in our midst are just now industriously piling fuel under the popular virtue, so that it may boil with sufficient indignancy about November. From the manner of its presentation this story seems to be regarded as good fuel for this purpose. We are not attempting to decide upon the merits of the story or claiming that it is right or excusable for an architect to file an obviously unfit set of plans as a stopgap and in order to avail himself of a special time privilege and later, when the privilege had expired, to substitute them by an appropriate set, but we think too much of a sensation has been made of the matter, and that if it had not been for the political vertisement, the remedies for irregularities, if there were any, could and would have been obtained in milder ways. It is particularly noticeable that the charge of corruption in the Department of Buildings is conjectured merely and not specific. There is danger that by exaggerating the matter, it may lead to a serious curtailment of the architect's privilege of amending his original plans after approval and the issue of a permit; or a revival of that literal and impracticable reading of law that cannot be literally enforced, which made more than one city department obnoxious during the Strong administration, as well as of putting excessive penalties upon owners who may be so unfortunate as to have architects who are imprudent or in error. The Department of Buildings should weigh the whole matter judicially and strictly uphold the law, but interpreting it liberally as they are authorized to do, and without heeding outside clamor.

The Future of Realty Corporations.

LAST week the Record and Guide published a list, which had been made as complete as possible, of the realty companies whose rapid multiplication is one of the most important facts in the real estate market of the present day. With this list was a brief account of a few of the causes, which had contributed to the formation of these companies. What these causes are it is not necessary to repeat in the present connection. It is sufficient to point out that the larger and larger capital, which is constantly being required for operations in New York real estate have made it desirable both for speculators and in some instances, investors to obtain for their own purposes the use of other people's money and in this way to distribute both their responsibilities and their profits.

The really interesting question, however, which these realty companies suggest may be stated as follows: Is this corporate organization of certain New York real estate interests only a step to the same sort of organization and consolidation, which is going on in other departments of business? Will the introduction of corporate ownership into real estate have any tendency to effect radical changes in the way certain classes of real property are held and managed?

These questions must be answered differently in the case of different companies. A great many of the small corporations which have recently been organized do not possess probably more than a half a dozen stockholders. They merely represent under a new name some small group of speculators or building loan operators, who have found it convenient to transact their business in the name of a company. Probably a large majority of realty corporations organized partake of this character. Some have small capitalizations, and some have large; some deal in tenements and small flats, and some make loans on apartment hotels or business buildings; but they are all alike in that their purposes are entirely speculative. They purchase a parcel of real estate, because they think it is cheap, or because they see a good chance of selling it again to a builder with a loan. They are, that is, mere intermediaries, like any other speculator. They do not propose to accumulate any real estate if they can help it; their business is not such that they can offer their stock to the public, and probably they would not want to, even were they able, for their operations must almost necessarily be conducted secretly. They are economically in the same position as those mortgage companies which lend money on bond and mortgages and then sell the security to investors, and their presence in the real estate market does not mean any departure from the ordinary methods of financing investments in New York real estate.

But some of these companies are proprietary and not speculative, and there does seem to be a chance that these companies may eventually bring about important and interesting changes in the way certain large properties in New York are owned. Many of the recent sky-scrapers have been erected, not as formerly by rich capitalists, or institutions, but by companies. These companies are, indeed, privately organized, and their stock is not as is so often the case in England publicly quoted; but the mere fact that these buildings are permanently owned in this manner strongly suggests that in the end means will be found of making a public market for this stock. The chief obstacle in the way of so doing at the present time is the relatively small capitalization of such buildings, for there can be no general market for a company whose capital stock amounts to only a million or two of dollars. The one way in which this difficulty can be obviated is by the consolidation of several of these companies under one management, and it seems very likely that in time such consolidations will take place, for American investors do not like to have their capital locked up in an inconvertible form. A company whose stock represented a number of office buildings would be such a corporate innovation that it might take some time for them to win their way into public favor; but there could not be a safer security than a well-planned and well-situated office building in New York. It might never offer large returns; but after it is once established it should be as safe as a municipal bond.

What makes the outcome we have suggested the more probable is the manner in which a number of these large buildings have already been financed. There are at least two large building corporations in New York, who frequently advance money themselves toward the cost of the buildings which they erect, and in this way must be gradually locking up a good deal of capital in a shape which at present can not readily be converted into cash. Furthermore, these same companies make a regular policy of approaching the owners of expensive parcels available for improvement, with propositions looking toward the improvement of the property at the joint risk of the owner and the company. The following example would be typical of this sort of proposition: A man owns free and clear a Broadway corner valued at $750,000. A proposal is made to him that a building should be erected at a cost of $1,250,000, the operation to be financed as follows: A first mortgage of $750,000 is to be put on the property at a low rate of interest, and the rest of the money needed to erect the building is supplied by the company. Both the property-owner and the company are to be paid in second mortgage bonds, bearing five per cent interest. This proposition closely resembles one recently made, and while the details vary in particular cases, the plan is typical of the way in which a number of recent buildings have been financed, whereby the property-owner gets a good price for his property, and the construction company makes a handsome profit on the cost of erecting the building.

But such arrangements, whenever they are actually brought about have only a tentative appearance. The kind of security which the various parties in interest obtain may be excellent, but it does mean the locking up of large amounts of capital in a form which could not be easily sold, and there will be a strong inducement toward the creation of a realty corporation which could take over a number of such buildings and sell its securities to the public. In this way the value represented by large office buildings could become very much more exchangeable and marketable than it is at present, and as more such buildings are being erected than there are individual capitalists and institutions to supply the money it seems probable that in the end they will be financed in some way similar to that outlined above.

THIS week's scare about the safety of Brooklyn Bridge, happily unfounded, as we believe, proves the value of the suggestion we made some time ago. that all the funds available ought to be concentrated to produce relief as quickly as possible. Even though the present bridge was capable of sustaining ten times the load it has to carry, nervousness would still be created by knowledge of the fact that it is doing a work not contemplated by its designers and panic and loss of life are, therefore, always within the painful possibilities. This makes it imperatively necessary that the New East River Bridge should be completed with all speed, and if necessary, expenditures and efforts should be concentrated upon it, even if the other bridges in hand are delayed thereby. In the same way, when the New East River Bridge is opened, the Pike Street Bridge should have exclusive attention until it, too, can take its portion of the traffic, which the first two bridges will have been meantime carrying. The political effects of the distribution of the money available for bridge building ought to be disregarded entirely for the blessings of the earliest distribution of the transpontine traffic and relief to its present facilities.

A STRIKING illustration of the abundance of the existing provision of tenement housing in Manhattan is afforded by recent events on Delancey street, where, in the past two months, a large number of people, estimated as high as 12,000, and which was certainly more than 8,000, have been unhoused by the city. All these people, with perhaps exceptions, but too insignificant for notice, have been rehoused in the section south of 14th street and east of the Bowery, that is practically without change of habitat. This was effected, too, without any disturbance of market rates for tenements. The only effect having a bearing on the values of property in the section named is that vacancies that were frequent a couple of months ago, are now reduced to probably the small percentage that must always be expected from the many trifling causes that operate to keep some tenements empty. The ease with which the people from Delancey street were accommodated in the vicinal tenements, does not surprise those who are acquainted with the conditions prevailing in the tenement sections. Even in the modern houses in the best renting of these sections, the vacancies averaged two a month, one vacancy was exceptional and a full house extremely rare. In the worst renting of these sections, which are uptown, vacancies will average as high as twenty-five per cent of the whole. Besides that tenement building on the lower East Side has been very active for some years past, and a good many new houses were able to fill up from those on Delancey street condemned for the bridge approach. However, unless tenement building is resumed in normal volume this section will not be able to withstand another such disturbance of population without change of the relations of landlord and tenant. Subject to the proviso already named, when removals are forced for the Pike street bridge the tenants will face the alternative of paying higher rents or going into other sections for their accommodations. In all views of the case, tenement property on the Lower East Side should advance in the esteem of investors. Its drawback is, of course, ignorance of the extent to which legal interference with the property will be carried.

THE attitude of the employees of the Steel Trust who are striking is unusual, and ought to be alarming to stockholders of that company. What the strikers depend upon more than anything else is not the strength of their own position, but upon the unpopularity, real or supposed, of the Steel Trust with the public and the politicians. They are really trying to make a political rather than an industrial contest. So far as an outsider can judge they have no real grievances against the steel company. They are well paid and receive the same rate of wages both in the union and non-union mills. The steel company has not been trying to use its vast organization and enormous capital in any way to injure its employees. On the contrary, it has been conciliatory, and has offered many concessions. But evidently the labor unions were afraid that their position was insecure against an organization which controls so many plants and so much capital, and they resolved if possible to make their own organization as far-reaching as that of the steel company. In forcing this point they are depending upon the general unpopularity of trusts both with the laboring class, the public and the politicians. It is decidedly doubtful whether this attempt to make a political issue out of a merely industrial conflict will be successful, for the tendency distinctly has been and is for public opinion merely to draw a ring around industrial combatants, and not to interfere unless some of the rules of the game are being broken. Nevertheless the incident suggests that the United States Steel Corporation being much the largest combination of capital in this country or the world, will never be taken as a merely and strictly business undertaking, but will be both fought and favored for its social and political effects. Yet the success of all such combinations must depend in the long run on the ability of their owners and managers to keep them out of politics, for if their prosperity or failure depended upon political issues they would most assuredly become dangerous to the state.

The Delancey Street Hegira.

THE POPULATION OF A SMALL TOWN REHOUSED WITHOUT TROUBLE OR RAISING RENTS.

Beginning at Clinton st and extending east to the river, the south side of Delancey st begins to look as though a cyclone had struck it. Of the 200-odd houses acquired by the city for the approach to the New East River Bridge, only five are inhabited, and they only partially so. Many houses have been razed completely, and from all the most readily salable things, such as lead pipes, have been removed. A facetious contractor has likened the demolition to the sack of Jerusalem, when "not one stone was left standing on top of another."

From a canvass of the local agents, it appears that the exodus began in May, shortly after the Bridge Commission sent notices to the inhabitants that they must vacate by July 1st. Tenements in the immediate vicinity are filled better than is usual at this season. The percentage of vacancies in the district south of 14th st, and east of the Bowery, is not more than 2 or 3%. It is estimated that about 12,000 people constituted the hegira, and not more than 5% of these moved above 14th st. Nearly all the tenants of the demolished buildings were Hebrews, whose friends and associates live in the vicinity. This class of Hebrews is extremely clannish, and although some of the real estate agents made efforts to get them to go into the cheaper tenement sections uptown, their efforts were futile. Several families moved in May up around 42d st, and they are now either back in the district or are seeking quarters there. The district most affected by these removals lies between 2d st on the north and Bayard st on the south, and Bowery on the west.

Besides the race feeling which impels the concentration in this quarter, there are business reasons which are potent. The former inhabitants of stricken Delancey st are employed for the most part in clothing, shirt, and cloak factories not far away, and the item of car fare in the daily expenses of the workers would be a serious one. Hence they must be within walking distance of their places of employment. If anyone wishes to acquire some idea of the importance attached to the saving of car fare by these people, let him take his stand some afternoon about six o'clock on East Houston st, near Elm, and watch the flood of homeward-bound humanity which sweeps like a tidal wave toward the east.

Tenement Plans Questioned.

WHERE DOES THE RIGHT TO AMEND PLANS BEGIN AND END?

Robert W. de Forest, who was chairman of the late Tenement House Commission, and is now chairman of the Tenement House Committee of the Charity Organization Association, has charged Michael Bernstein, an architect, having offices in the Trinity Building, with wilful violation of the New Tenement House Law. It is understood, that the past six weeks Lawrence Veiller, secretary of the late commission, and now secretary of the committee of which Mr. de Forest is chairman, has been investigating at the Department of Buildings, and that the charge is made as a result of his work. Mr. Bernstein, just prior to the date when the new law went into effect, filed more plans than any other architect, and it is charged that a majority of these plans were dummy plans, some of which did not fit the lots for which they were specifically intended according to the superscription on them; that they were manifestly filed to get in ahead of the new law; that the records of the Department show that out of fifty-three plans submitted, thirty-eight had been used for other buildings, and were so marked; that in four-fifths of the cases the plans were disapproved by the plan examiner as not conforming with the size of the lot and specifications; that in forty-one cases no plans were approved until he filed his so-called "amendments," and as this was done after April 10, all the substitute plans are unlawful. Mr. de Forest, in his published interviews, intimates that Mr. Bernstein's ability to do what he did was due to corruption in the Department of Buildings.

Mr. Bernstein enters a general denial to the charges of Mr. de Forest. He says that all the amendments to the plans represent improvements in the way of more air-space for tenants, mostly by increasing the size and lessening the number of rooms. Continuing, he says: "No architect living ever filed a perfect plan. There are always little improvements made here and there, just as an author goes over his book and makes changes before it is sent to the printer. If any of the plans are larger than the lots for which they are intended, the discrepancy is doubtless due to a mistake in the survey of the land, few surveyors agreeing perfectly in their figures."

Plans for seventy-six buildings in all were filed by Mr. Bernstein, a list of which, with the names of the owners, is appended. Of these 14 calling for 18 buildings have been abandoned. What will become of the remaining 58 remains to be seen. Commissioner Wallace refused any information to the writer, but it is understood that he is going over the plans with the department engineers, and no decision has been definitely arrived at. The list is as follows, with the abandoned plans indicated by asterisks:

New Church for Washington Heights.

Rev. Edward T. McGinley has purchased from Gustave Lange a plot of five lots, each 25x105.10, on the south side of 165th st, 100 feet west of Amsterdam av, for $40,000. A church and rectory will be erected, and the church will be known as the Church of St. Rose of Lima. Father McGinley was formerly pastor of the church of the same name on Cannon st, which was in the line taken for the approach to the New East River Bridge.

Demand for East Side Lofts.

NEW USE FOR SMALL LOTS IN TENEMENT SECTIONS.

As previously mentioned in the Record and Guide, Samuel Sass has begun the erection of a loft building on Hester st. He gives his reasons for doing so substantially as follows: "The lot is 44 by 75 feet, and under the old law I should have erected a tenement on the plot. Under the new law I could get only 16 rooms to the floor, or four apartments of four rooms each, and could build only 5 stories. A good average rental for the apartments would be $16, or $64 for each floor, making a total possible rental of $320 a month for the building. By putting up a loft building I can utilize a greater percentage of the lot area; in fact, I could cover the entire lot, and can build 7 stories. The difference in the cost of a 5-sty tenement and the 7-sty loft building I have planned would not be great, as I expect to use metal ceilings, steel girders, patent plaster—ordinary plaster would not last a year, and hard plaster, though more expensive at first, will be cheaper in the end—an electric elevator in a fireproof shaft. The building will cost about $31,000, and I shall rent the lofts from $70 to $75 each a month. With the electric elevator the top lofts will be more desirable, and the increased rental of the top floors, made possible by the installation of the elevator, will more than cover the cost of keeping an elevator man. The stores and basements will bring considerably more; in fact, I have already been offered $350 a month for the ground floor and basement. The first, second and third lofts will probably be used by some wholesale firms, and the fourth, fifth and sixth lofts for manufacturing purposes. I expect my yearly rental for the entire building will be over $9,000.

"The loft building has this advantage over a tenement. The lofts are let on yearly leases, and it has a corresponding disadvantage. If you have one vacancy it is a whole floor instead of one fourth of a floor."

F. B. Lewis, manager of the East Houston st office of McVickar & Co., says: "There is a constant demand for lofts in the tenement district east of the Bowery. A clothing manufacturer called here the other day and wanted to rent an entire loft building. I tried to get one of our clients to erect a loft building similar to the one at No. 181 Ludlow st, and he would have done so but for the fact that his money is tied up in other improvements. We have a loft building at Centre and Grand sts, but the clothing manufacturers don't like that location, claiming they can get only Italians in that district. They want their factories east of the Bowery, where they can get Hebrews for operatives, claiming that these are better tailors.

"I recently had an estimate made on the cost of a loft building 75 feet high, 83 feet deep, and 25 feet wide. The estimate was $18,000, but this building is of a better class than the average speculator would erect. Possibly $16,000 would erect a suitable 7-sty loft building. The lot would probably cost $10,000, depending, of course, upon the location. Any bargains in this district are quickly gobbled up. Two lofts on a floor would average $20 each, or $40 to the floor, which for the whole building for the year would mean a rental of $3,360. The basement for this kind of building could not be counted, the returns from it would be so small. I would not add more than $2 a month for the basement. The gross returns would be between 9 and 10%.

"The loft building is less trouble than a tenement. The occupants are business men, and the leases run for a year or more. There are fewer vacancies, and the rent is paid promptly each month. There is room for several buildings in this neighborhood of the same class at No. 181 Ludlow st."

Obituary.

JOHN DOWNEY.

John Downey, the well-known master builder, died on the 19th inst., and was buried last Monday from his residence at No. 28 East 56th st. Among other prominent men at the funeral were: H. H. Cammann, Henry S. Swords, President Real Estate Trust Co.; J. Harsen Rhoades, George Schermerhorn, J. R. Fisher and W. Ives Washburn. The late John Downey started in business in this city as a carpenter between forty-five and fifty years ago. His beginning was very modest, like those of most of the prominent builders of this city, and the growth very rapid only of late years. A few years after starting he bought the property No. 407 W. 33d st, which continues to be part of his shop. About ten years ago the premises Nos. 410 and 412 West 34th st, abutting the 33d st property, was purchased, and a 5-sty brick shop and office erected. Some of his important contracts were on the Masonic Temple, on 23d st; Mount Sinai Hospital, Corn Exchange Bank, Home Life Insurance Building, Netherland Hotel, Exchange Court, Metropolitan Life's second building, American Tract Society Building, Park Row Building, Waldorf and Astoria Hotels, and Graham Court. His firm has now under way the new building on the site of the Star Theatre, extension to Mutual Life Building, and a building at Broadway and 75th st, for W. W. Astor, besides numerous smaller contracts. He was a member of the Building Trades', Aldine Association, Manhattan, New York Athletic, Norwood and Driving Clubs, and a director in the Real Estate Trust Co., Greenwich Savings Bank, Astor National and Greenwich Banks, and the newly-organized Mutual Trust Co., of Westchester County. He was also a large owner of real estate, the principal parcels being Nos. 473 and 475 Broadway, Nos. 132 and 134 Front st, Nos. 83 and 85 Worth st, a property on White st, his residence at No. 28 East 56th st, and his shops on 33d and 34th sts. Mr. Downey had been in poor health for some months, and was to have sailed for Europe on the "Lucania" on July 27. The business which John Downey started, and which his son, John R. Downey, who died about two years ago, helped him to extend, will be continued by his grandson, John I. Downey, who since the death of his father has been the partner and active manager of the house.

PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

In a recent issue of your paper a statement was made that there was a real estate association in the city which claimed the new tenement house law was unconstitutional, and would take legal steps, without costs to its members as individuals, to prove their case. Kindly let me know the necessary steps to take to become a member of this association. Property is situated in the first and second wards.

Answer.—Apply to Geo. B. Christman, Chairman of the Tenement House Committee of the United Real Estate Owners' Association, who have a bureau at No. 99 Nassau st. He will doubtless furnish you with the information you need.—Editor Record and Guide.

ACT CONCERNING BROKERS.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Regarding the new law which requires a broker to have written authority from the owner to sell property or to place mortgages, permit me to ask if one broker receives due authority, does that entitle him to offer the property to another broker under the law, or under what circumstances can brokers work?

Answer.—See "Questions and Answers," Record and Guide of July 20, page 80.—Law Editor.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A rents an apartment from B, and B requests A to sign a year's lease; A refuses to do so before paying the first month's rent; few minutes later B accepts the one month's rent and says nothing further about the lease. Can B hold A responsible for rents in case he moves after two or three months?

Answer.—No. There was no agreement to hire for a year.—Law Editor.

BROKER'S COMMISSION.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Two or more brokers have a house on their books to let by consent of the owner. One broker shows the house to an applicant. The applicant names a figure, and the first broker says it can't be got for that figure. The applicant sees one of the other brokers, and the second broker closes the deal, and the applicant secures the house. Is the second broker entitled to the commission?

Answer.—Yes.—Editor Record and Guide.

C. Schierloh was the broker in the sale of No. 453 West 47th st to Thomas Welstead; he also leased the premises to a Mr. Goodworth, and leased the stable, Nos. 551 and 553 West 49th st, to Gutfreund Brothers for ten years, at $1,200 a year.

The Architectural Iron Workers' Union and Housesmiths' and Bridgemens' Union have decided that they will not handle non-union building material if any comes to New York during the strike of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers.

James L. Wells headed the delegation of some 1,200 owners and residents of the Bronx who appeared before the Municipal Assembly Committee on Thursday, in support of the application of the Union R. R. Co. to carry their tracks over Central Bridge and the 155th st viaduct. There was no opposition.

The building will be strictly up-to-date in construction and contain three elevators. It covers the site of the old Bradley Martin mansion.

Rent collecting on Delancey st has not been an easy task this summer. In fact, the owners of the demolished houses have been unable to collect the rents for the past three months, except from those tenants who were willing to pay, and these were few. After receiving notice to vacate from the Bridge Commission, the tenants with great unanimity refused payment, knowing that the owners would not incur the trouble and expense incident to evictions for two months' rent. Some, recognizing the owners' rights to share in a good thing, magnanimously consented to compromise on reduced rents.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK.

The year 1901 will be remarkable for the many sky-scrapers erected in the lower business district. Besides the very considerable number already in course of construction, two more have recently been announced, upon which work will be rapidly pushed. These are a 16-story building on the site of the Kemp Building, at William and Cedar sts, and a 20-story building on the present site of the Hanover and Continental National Banks, at the corner of Nassau and Pine sts. In addition we may note there are three office buildings going up on Broadway, one at Nos. 72 and 74, one at the corner of Maiden lane, and one between Maiden lane and Fulton st, three on Wall st, all east of William st, and one further south, opposite the new Custom House. Moreover, the new buildings of the Chamber of Commerce and the Stock Exchange will both contain some small provision for offices. It is safe to say that the aggregate building of sky-scrapers during the past four years would not equal the aggregate under construction or soon to be constructed during the present year. The reason for this unusual eruption of sky-scrapers is obvious. From one cause or another, the office buildings situated in the lower part of the city have been filling up rapidly, in such wise that many of them have practically no vacancies, while several of them have been able, because of their waiting-lists, to make a perceptible increase in their rents. The consequence is that as the supply of such buildings is more quickly adapted to the demand than formerly, a number of speculative builders or building companies have come in to increase the supply.

This renewed building of sky-scrapers is remarkable in two respects. In the first place, it may be noticed that with one exception, and that the smallest of the lot, none of these buildings will be erected north of Maiden lane. There is good reason for this restriction in the area of improvement, because it is buildings, not more than a few blocks north or south of Wall st, which are doing best, not only in the number of tenants they can secure, but also in the character of those tenants. What is even more remarkable, however, is that, with one important and two unimportant exceptions, all these buildings are being erected by real estate corporations, and many of them are speculative transactions. The one important exception is, of course, the building of the Hanover National Bank; and seven or eight years ago, almost all such buildings were erected by large financial institutions of that kind. Now, however, it is speculative companies or groups of speculators and investors organized into corporations, who are erecting this class of building, and hence, as already noted, the supply of them more rapidly than formerly adapts itself to the demand.

The week just ended has been a typical summer week as far as the real estate market is concerned, and judging from the feeling in the brokers' offices, a fair sample of what is to be expected for the month of August.

The one peculiar thing about the market is that brokers are able to dispose of private houses, to intending occupants at this time of the year. If there is any one class of people that it should be hard to reach at this season, it surely is the man able to buy a private dwelling for his own use.

There were a number of lots sold this week, including a plot on 45th st for improvement with an apartment hotel. This makes the third such structure to be erected on 45th st, and the fifth in the immediate neighborhood, including two already built on 44th st. Considering the fact that Sherry's, Delmonico's and the Lorraine are also located within a block of these buildings, and that there are a number of lower-priced apartment hotels to the west of 6th av, it would seem that this neighborhood, at least, had all of the apartment hotels which it was able to support, and that it might be wise for the backers of other such enterprises to enquire about the demand for such housing. At the present time there are several of them that are reported to be paying, but at the present rate of increase it will not take long to arrive at the same condition as is found in the elevator apartment houses and flats in other sections of the city.

In our last issue we announced that negotiations for the sale of a large plot near Broadway and 57th st were on, and that the sale might be announced any day. The plot referred to was that of the Central Realty Bond and Trust Co., on Broadway, from 56th to 57th st.

There are a number of reports current of sales of lots in the 90's, adjoining 5th av, and a reliable authority states that they have been made, but John N. Golding, the broker named in these various transactions, states that they have not yet been completed.

Attention is called to the ample and interesting details regarding the Chauncey property, at Dobb's Ferry and Hastings, which is offered to the attention of buyers in our business pages. The property is an extensive one, well situated in a beautiful country appreciated for high-class rural life, and has ample railway connections with New York City. Chauncey Realty Co., No. 136 Liberty st, Commodore P. Vedder, president, and Philip A. Rollins, No. 32 Nassau st, may be applied to for terms, etc.

We will pay 10 cents per copy for numbers 1712, 1713, 1721 and 1722, delivered at our office in good condition. Record and Guide, 14 Vesey street.

Ecole Des Beaux-Arts.

It is admitted by all competent observers that the most powerful single influence which is operating on American architecture at present is the influence of the Paris Ecole des Beaux-Arts, the school at which so many of the younger American architects have studied. The methods and traditions of this school are fully described and studied in a special number of the Architectural Record, devoted to that purpose, and any student of architecture or any young man who proposes to practice it, will find much information in this number which will be very useful, and which cannot be conveniently obtained in any other way. This issue of the magazine contains also a descriptive and fully illustrated account of the work of those American architects who have come most under the Beaux-Arts influences. Copies may be had by applying to the Architectural Record, 14 and 16 Vesey St. Price 65 cents, including postage.

Bricklayers Sign the Agreement.

The annual agreement between the Mason Builders' Association and the Bricklayers' Unions, of Manhattan and the Bronx, has been signed and was sent to the printer yesterday. The chief change in the agreement is the advance in wages from 55c. an hour to 60c. The waiting-time clause was made more explicit. The unions which signed the agreement are Nos. 4, 7, 11, 33, 34, 35, 37 and 47.

Robt. W. de Forest, the arbitrator in the "waiting-time" case, which came up in the strike on the Stokes Building, on upper Broadway, has handed down his decision. He allowed the men 3½ days' pay. They struck on Tuesday, and were not paid until Saturday, but Wednesday and Thursday were rainy, so that they could not have worked those days.

Material Market.

The leading features in the material market are tin plates and black sheets, of which there is a growing scarcity on account of the strike. There is a great scarcity of coke tins both here and at the mills. When the strike began the mills were 30 days behind with their orders, and spot stocks were not up to the average usual at this season. At the present time a price can hardly be quoted on coke tins because it varies hourly. Prices have advanced rapidly, and still continue to rise. Orders and inquiries from manufacturers and canners are pouring in from all parts of the country, and dealers are cutting down the size of orders in almost every instance. Roofing tins are high also, notwithstanding there is only a small demand at this season. Worcester grade 14x20 are held at $5.50@5.75, and do. 20x28, $11@11.50.

Black sheets are very much in the same position as tin plates. The mills were 60 to 90 days behind with their orders when the strike began, and prices of spot stocks have steadily advanced to 4.05 for No. 24.

The structural mills are running at their full capacity, and are still behind with their orders. Prices remain as quoted last week.

The lumber trade is slow, without developments of interest. Spruce timber holds its own well as far as prices are concerned. Round spruce laths bring $2.25@2.30. If there were any slab spruce laths here they would fetch $2.50.

There is nothing new in the brick market. Prices are steady. Truckmen have recovered from their fright regarding the danger to their teams on account of the heat, and deliveries are being made with more facility.

The demand for window glass is very quiet.

Lime and cement meet a fair demand at unchanged rates.

Recent Legal Decisions.

Mechinic's lien—Sub-contractors' lien not cut off by contracor's general assignment—Mechanics' liens, filed within ninety days after the completion of the work, by sub-contracts, because of the contractors' failure to pay them, are not cut off by his assignment for benefit of creditors delivered before the liens were filed, and the general assignee must, where, at the time of the assignment, the owner owed the contractor moneys sufficient to satisfy the liens, satisfy them before any of the assigned estate can be applied to the debts of the contractors' general creditors.

Semble, that where the liens are filed in time, they cannot be cut off by a general assignment of the contractor delivered and recorded before the liens were filed.

The provisions of the lien law (L. 1897, ch. 418,—15) declaring that no assignment of a contract, for labor or materials to improve real property, or of money due or to become due therefor, shall be valid until the contract or assignment, or a statement or a copy thereof, are filed in the office of the county clerk of the county where the property is situated, have no application to a general assignment of the contractor, and relate only to the case of a special assignment made by him for value. (The John P. Kane Company v. Kinney, 35 Misc. Rep., 1.)

Real property—Marketable title—When title is in vendor personally and not as trustee. The title to real property is not unmarketable upon the ground that the vendor acquired it as trustee for his children and not personally, where he derived it through the foreclosure of a purchase-money mortgage given by his wife, who owned the property and died intestate, leaving children, and on account of his default in paying the interest, which he was unable to pay, and without any collusion, was foreclosed, and bid in by the mortgagee for an amount representing the value of the property, the decree providing that any party might purchase at the sale, and was by him conveyed to the vendor, since his former relation to the property and the children did not prevent him from personally acquiring the title of the mortgagee, which was perfect. (Kullman v. Cox, 167, N. Y., 411.)

A covenant to surrender is real—Covenant against assigning a lease, when broken. A covenant to surrender premises for a consideration, if the landlord sells during the term, is a covenant real, and is enforcible by an assignee thereof; and it is not a defence to his action for the consideration of surrender that the defendant landlord failed to consummate the sale. A covenant against assigning a lease is not broken by an assignment thereof unless the landlord re-enters. (Dierig v. Callahan, 35 Misc. Rep., 30.)

News, Notes and Notions.

THE FLAT REACHES INDIA.

The flat is forcing itself on India, by the same cause that compelled the adoption of that form of dwelling here, viz.: the great rise in the value of land in the great cities forcing economy of surface space. Calcutta is chosen as the birthplace of the Indian flat, where, according to a paper local to that city, Europeon families of moderate means have found difficulty in obtaining convenient homes at rents they can afford. To meet the demand thus created a builder named Ezra, according to the same informant, is erecting three separate blocks, covering about two bigghas of ground, on a fine central site facing Government House, and extending along Waterloo steet to Dacre's lane. They are to be four stories high. The ground floor of the main block consists of four shops, and the ground floor of the inner block and the first floor of all will be for offices and workshops. The second and third floors are to be arranged as flats, and there will be fifteen suites of four and five rooms, each having south verandas.

HOW LAND MAY BE USED.

Justice Sewall, in the Second Appellate Division, vacating an injunction restraining quarry operations obtained by owner of adjoining property, said: "Authorities are numerous sustaining the proposition that the rights of each person living in society are liable to be modified and abridged by the exercise by others of their own rights, and so far as they are thus abridged the loss is damnum absque injuria. A man may do many things on his own land which may result in injury to the property of others, without being answerable for the consequences. If he acts with proper care and skill he may set fire to his fallow grounds, and, though the fire run into and destroy the woodland of his neighbor, no action will lie. He may open and work a coal mine in his own land, though it injures the house which another has built at the extremity of his land, and he may do the same thing, though it cut off an underground stream of water which before supplied his neighbor's well, and leave the well dry. He may build on his own land, though it stops the lights of his neighbor. He may dig a pit in his own land, be it ever so deep, though the house of his neighbor be undermined thereby and fall into the pit, and he may erect a dam on his own land by which he withholds the water from a mill below, to the injury of its owner. In each of these cases the plaintiff was restricted in some particular mode of enjoying his property by the exercise of a right of domain on the part of the defendant. There was damage, but no wrong, because what was done by the adjacent owner was in the lawful and permitted use of his property. The test of the permissible use of one's own land is not whether the use or the act causes injury to a neighbor's property, or that the injury was the natural consequence, or that the act is in the nature of a nuisance, but the inquiry is, was the act or use a reasonable exercise of the dominion which the owner of property has by virtue of his ownership over the property, having regard to all interests affected?"

MOVEMENT OF PRICES.

Dun's index number, covering 350 quotations for natural and manufactured products on July 1, shows a decline in the average of prices during June amounting to 2.4 per cent., and since January 1 of 4.4 per cent. Compared with the level of prices a year ago, however, there is practically no change. Going back to the corresponding date in earlier years it is found that quotations were much lower then than now, the average of prices being 6.8 per cent. lower on July 1, 1899, and 15 per cent. lower on the same date of 1898. These changes reflect the activity of trade and the greater prosperity of the people, as quotations always tend to rise in proportion to the increased demand and the ability of consumers to spend money more freely. Last year prices in many lines were unreasonably inflated, but a readjustment has taken place this year, bringing values of products down to a more substantial basis. The moderate decline this year indicates in a great measure the elimination of fictitious values.

NEED OF WOMEN'S HOTELS.

In a recent interview a woman prominent in sociological work made the statement that the greatest stumbling block in the path of the self-supporting woman in New York was the approximate impossibility of getting decent and comfortable board and lodging at a place within her reach. "Fully 90% of the working girls who do not live with their own families," he said, "are living in a way that is disastrous to health and morals, and the wonder in my mind is not that so many girls go absolutely wrong, but that, under the circumstances, any girl practically alone in this city escapes demoralization. I know of no finer philanthropy than an effort to solve the living problem for the self-supporting woman and furnish her a safe and pleasant home at a reasonable price. Not one girl in one hundred is strong enough to resist the atmosphere surrounding her, and the average working girl's life is likely to vulgarize her, if it does nothing worse. After all, I believe the most distressing thing in this city's life is not its wickedness, but its vulgarity, and in my work among working girls I find them handicapped, not so much by original sin as by a vulgarity that is the natural result of their habit and condition of life."

THE SHADOW OF THE CROSS.

To those readers who work in mortuary memorials, as well as to others, the following from "Stone Trades' Journal" will prove of interest and perhaps suggestive: "The 'shadow cross' on one of the tombstones in the churchyard attached to the quaint little church at Bonchurch, Isle of Wight, is well known. The idea of the 'shadow,' which is caused by an elevated Roman cross, has recently been greatly improved upon, and put into practice, in one of the prettiest cemeteries in England, namely, that at Southampton. A unique marble tombstone, representing 'a shield of faith,' has been erected immediately opposite the entrance gates. The grave is entirely covered with a solid stone slab, at the head of which is 'the shield of faith,' cut out of a solid block of white marble, on which is an appropriate inscription, with 'The Shadow of the Cross' underneath. Over the centre of the slab is a Roman cross, in white marble, standing on four bronze legs, and truly oriented, so that every day when the sun shines a corresponding shadow is cast. The summer solstice (June 21) is indicated by the shadow cross being chased on the stone beneath. In the centre of this cross is the Labarum, the hieroglyphic sign of Christ, with the word 'Jesu,' and the sentence, 'In Hoc Signo Vinces' ('By this sign thou shalt conquer'), the initial letters of which spell 'Jesu,' written above it. The words 'The Shadow of the Cross' are written on the perpendicular limb, this making a most appropriate inscription for this Gnomen cross. The meridian sun is daily recorded at high noon.

COLORING STOVE PIPES.

Whenever a stove has to be fixed in a position necessitating the use of several feet of stove pipe, objection is raised to the pipe being in view, most people considering it unsightly. Black iron pipe is, of course, conspicuous, and the Brunswick or Berlin black ordinarily used produces a powerful odor as it burns off. It has not been recognized, says the London "Ironmonger," that water colors can be used successfully; just ordinary distemper. This neither burns off nor changes color to a noticeable extent. Light tints may be applied, and with a little care no exception will be made to the pipe. In the case of vertical pipes the general coloring may be light with ornamental bands of darker color stenciled near the joints. Except for the seams or rivet heads a vertical pipe treated in this way much resembles an iron or stone pillar. No smell is given off when the pipe becomes hot.

INSURANCE REPLACING OLD STRUCTURES.

A novel question of insurance has come up in connection with the burning of the "Advertiser" building, in Boston. The structure was built long before the adoption of the present rigid building laws, and it cannot lawfully be restored to the condition in which it existed before the fire. At the same time, the insurance companies, which have contracted either to replace the building or to pay the amount of the policy, insist that they are only bound to replace it as it was before, and that the laws forbidding the repetition of the original construction do not concern them. As the difference in cost between a restoration of the original construction and the restoration of the building according to the construction now required by law is several thousand dollars, the contest may be a prolonged one, and every one who holds a policy of insurance is interested in the result. It is safe to say that the majority of policy-holders entertain erroneous ideas in regard to the kind or amount of indemnity which they would actually be able to collect from the insurance companies in case of loss, and the sooner the rights of both parties can be clearly defined the better it will be for the insured, as well as for the companies, which, in the end, gain nothing by accepting premiums from innocent policy-holders for indemnities which their "rules," as they know very well, would forbid their paying.—American Architect.

CONVEYANCES.

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to their having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482, denote that the property is in section 2 block 482.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers, the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—The letters R. S. mean Revenue Stamp, as R. S. $8.00 means Revenue Stamp $8.00.

Tax on Conveyances executed on and after July 1st is 25c. on each $500 or fraction thereof above $2,500.

Tax on Conveyances executed prior to July 1st, 1901, on $100 to $500, 50c., and for each additional $500 or fraction thereof 50c.; on Conveyances executed on and after July 1st, 25c., where consideration exceeds $2,500 and is not more than $3,000, and 25c. for each additional $500 or fraction thereof.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage is drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find Mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

July 19, 20, 22, 23, 24 and 25.
